

AN AUTO COLLISION IN MOODY STREET

Undertaker Albert and Charles Barry Had Narrow Escape—Automobile Badly Damaged

Undertaker Joseph Albert and one of his employees, Charles Barry, narrowly escaped serious injury last night, when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a large touring car owned and operated by Dr. T. A. Lemieux of Lawrence, at the corner of Moody and Aiken streets. Fortunately no one in the party was injured, but Mr. Albert's auto was badly damaged.

The corner of Moody and Aiken streets is a dangerous place and despite the fact that many accidents have occurred there, and signs of warning are posted there, motorists will not slacken their speed, and many pass the corner at an excessive rate. According to witnesses of last night's accident, Doctor Lemieux's machine, a large touring car, was being driven very fast.

Mr. Albert was driving his touring car up Aiken street toward Merrimack at about 7.30 o'clock, and when he reached the corner of Moody he made a wide turn as is his custom, but at that moment he saw Dr. Lemieux's auto coming at a good clip down Moody street toward city hall. He barely turned the front wheels of his machine to the left when the large automobile gave it a glancing blow, striking the front axle. Mr. Barry was thrown to the ground, but he received only a few scratches. Mr. Albert clung to the wheel and that saved him.

The Lawrence machine was brought to a stop some distance away and the doctor rushed to the assistance of the undertaker and his friend, but they proved to be uninjured. The auto, however, was badly damaged. The front axle was bent considerably, while the headlights were broken badly. The side of the car was also damaged. One of the mud guards of the Lawrence car was damaged. It was fortunate that the accident did not have a fatal result and this was due, according to many, to the quick action of Mr. Albert in driving his car to the left before the collision occurred.

CAMPAIGN ROORBACKS

Many in Circulation—Mayoralty Contest Holds Attention—The Speeches Last Night

The candidates for mayor and alderman carried out their advertised schedule of speeches last night and talked to large crowds. Col. Carmichael, candidate for commissioner, addressed about 200 people at the corner of Mammoth road and Riverside street, telling them what he would do if elected, and stating that he would never vote to place a contagious hospital at any man's door. He favored a new bridge at Pawtucket falls and more improvements for Pawtucketville.

Dennis J. Murphy, candidate for mayor, came along as Col. Carmichael concluded and delivered an address in which he hinted that money was being used in behalf of Mayor O'Donnell. He criticized the mayor's advertisements and wanted to know where the mayor got the money to pay for them. He made the usual charges of gambling being carried on in the city while the police fail to follow up the offenders. After some further remarks, he was concluding his speech as Amos P. Best drove up in an automobile. Mr. Murphy, pretending to believe that it was Mayor O'Donnell, got up again in his auto and started in another speech.

After one summer in Michigan Therrien returned to New England and continued to play ball here for many years.

300 STRIKERS BACK AT WORK

Union Teamsters at Indianapolis Returned This Morning

Leaders Say Employers Have Agreed to Pay the Union Scale

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 6.—Three hundred union teamsters who have been on strike since last Sunday midnight returned to work today and union officials say 1000 will be back in their old places by Monday morning. Only those drivers whose employers have signed contracts with the union are permitted to take out teams under the resolution adopted at yesterday's meeting of the teamsters.

Labor leaders declared that 300 employers have signed contracts agreeing to pay the union scale and not discriminate against union men but at the offices of the Vehicle Owners association it was said none of the large employers had agreed to the union's demands.

J. B. Denmore, sent here as a representative of the department of labor, probably will return to Washington tomorrow.

ESCAPED FROM THE INFIRMARY

Three Absconding Inmates Sentenced to the State Farm

Man Who Interrupted Funeral Procession in Court Today

Joseph Goodhue, Jr., of Pawtucket, R. I., appeared in police court this morning to answer the charge of interrupting a funeral procession and pleaded guilty. It seems that the defendant was driving a machine through Lowell on Nov. 23 and, being in a hurry, did not allow a funeral procession to halt him. The number on his machine was taken after he had driven his auto between two hacks and he was summoned to appear here today.

Supt. Welch informed the court that the action of the defendant was rather heedless than criminal and that he acted promptly when summoned to appear at the Lowell police court. In view of the fact that Mr. Goodhue had come such a distance Judge Enright thought that he had been punished sufficiently and released him upon his payment of the costs of the trial.

The clerk of the board of harbor and land commissioners has addressed a letter to the mayor and aldermen, asking them to prepare a statement setting forth the work of improvement considered necessary and desirable to have done on the Merrimack river. Commission Government
A special committee of the court of common council of Hartford, Conn., has been appointed to investigate the commission form of government and the committee wants to hear from Mayor O'Donnell. The story is told in the following letter received by the mayor today:

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 4, 1913.
Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Sir:
As members of a special committee of the court of common council of Hartford, Conn., appointed to investigate the commission form of government in American cities, we are endeavoring to secure as complete information as possible upon the subject.

Your name has been given us by the mayor of our city as one qualified to assist us. Will you kindly fill in the form on the back of this letter as completely as is feasible and return it to H. L. Beadle, secretary of this committee on commission form of government.

Thanking you sincerely in advance for your courtesy in the matter, we are,
Yours respectfully,
Alfred A. Storrs Campbell, chairman; Alderman Charles H. Driscoll, H. L. Beadle, Francis W. Cole, Thomas F. Leary, Michael J. Hussey, councilmen.

Looking For Suggestions
An exposition, not of buildings, but of the latest and finest and most useful ideas of the world, is what New Orleans will open in Audubon park on November 1, 1914, and keep open until 1915. The aim of this exposition will be to show modern ideas in action rather than to explain the theory of processes and to show only finished products. New Orleans proposes to teach the whole nation how to do its work better and more profitably.

The chairman of the executive committee of the proposed exposition has addressed a letter to the mayor and municipal council of Lowell asking for an expression of approval or appreciation, a telegram of encouragement or a letter of advice and opinion.

One of the features of the exposition will be a "new idea hall." Here will be given a prize of $10,000 for the greatest idea, discovery or invention submitted to the exposition. Competition will be open to the entire world. Model, plan or manuscript will be shown, depending upon the nature of the idea, invention or discovery. The prize will be awarded by an international jury.

Central America will be shown in miniature. A lake will be dug out, and a form of Central America on a small scale will be laid out in it. This will show the proximity and shapes of the different countries. Flora will be transplanted in the miniature, and fauna shown. Native streets, the river, life and other aspects of Central American conditions will be displayed. Instead of buildings such as are used at other expositions New Orleans will erect upon the exposition site a reproduction of eighteenth century New Orleans. The buildings will be absolute reproductions of famous historical dwellings, with their court yards, yards, fountains, wrought iron galleries, and massive doors with iron and brass knockers.

A big pure food exhibition will show all the forms of adulteration, and ex-

O'DONNELL APPEALS TO BUSINESS MEN

I cannot let this great MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN pass into history without saying a word to the BUSINESS MEN of Lowell.

During my TWO YEARS OF SERVICE at City Hall I have found BUSINESS MEN always fair on public questions. They have been WELCOME VISITORS at City Hall—hundreds of them during my term as Mayor. I wish to THANK THEM for their cordial support and helpful suggestions.

They realize how important it is that citizens who are out of work for a short time should be given EMPLOYMENT by the city at living wages.

It means paying GROCERY bills, COAL bills, MEAT bills, CLOTHING bills and the RENT.

"Keeping down the city pay roll" may sound fine as a campaign slogan, but it doesn't stand the acid test as applied by intelligent BUSINESS MEN.

An HONEST DAY'S WORK for a FAIR DAY'S PAY not only means GOOD STREETS, GOOD SEWERS, GOOD SCHOOL-HOUSES, GOOD BRIDGES for the city, but it means CASH in the hands of the MERCHANTS.

Don't fail to vote on TUESDAY. It is your highest privilege as a citizen.

FACTS

On Westford street, between Chelmsford and Grand streets, one-half of the men there are and have been employees of the Lowell Gas Light Co., the Lowell Electric Light Co., Bay State St. Ry. Co., New England Telephone Co. and the city sewer department.

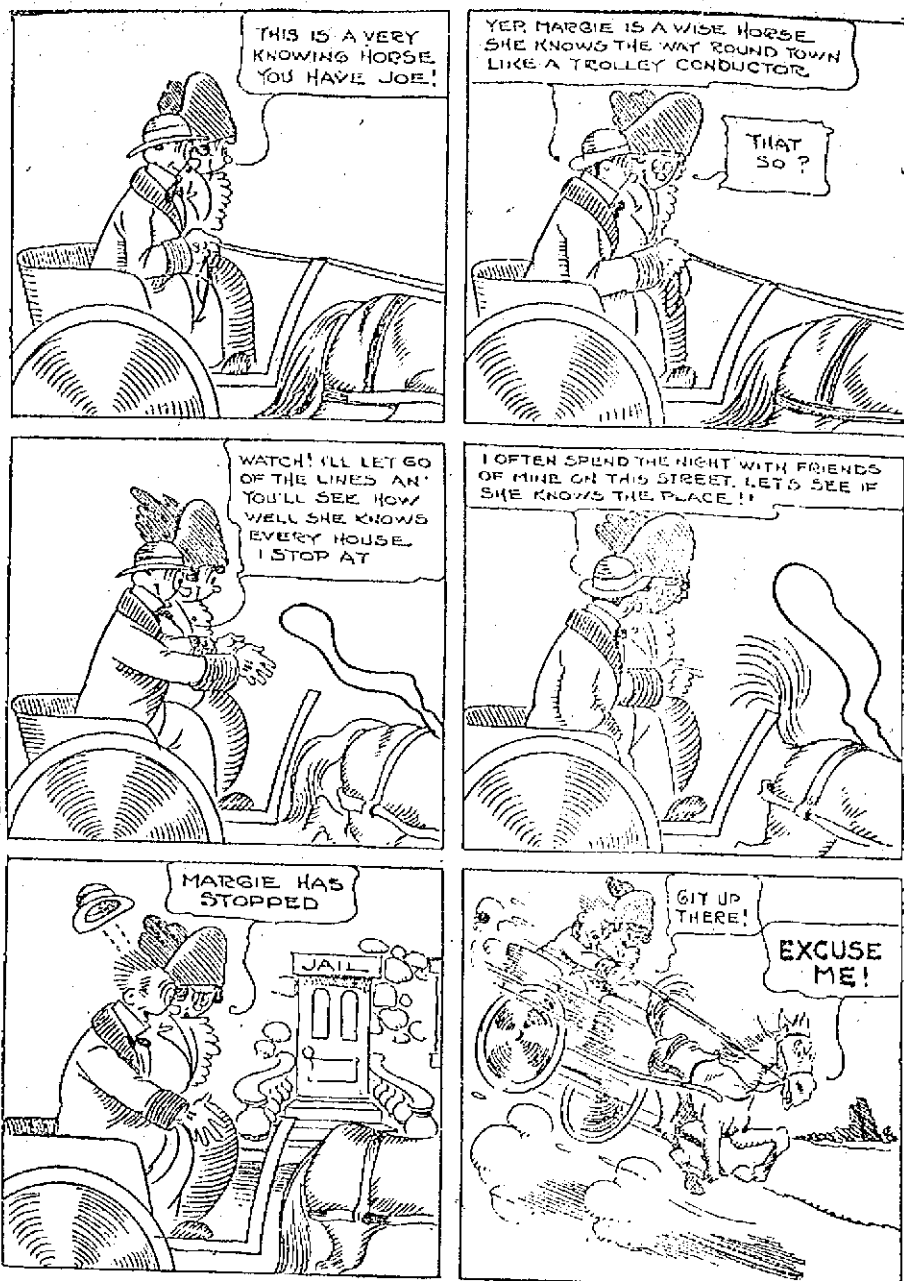

Men were sent there by those different corporations to protect their property against accident, because of the nature of the work being done by the water department.

BIG WATER MAIN BURST

MANY HOUSES UNDERMINED IN BROOKLINE-MILE OF DEAN ROAD IMPASSABLE

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Many workmen marched this morning to Dean and Clinton roads in Brookline and began to tear up the ground to uncover the giant water main of the Metropolitan system, which burst last night, five minutes before midnight, and flooded the whole district with a roaring torrent, carrying a heavy load of clay.

It was only when daylight came that it was possible to see what the force of the water had been. Dean road for nearly a mile is entirely impassable on account of the dangerous holes the water dug, and the deep, thick mud. The road has been fenced off by the police.

The houses which got the worst of it are actually in a dangerous condition, their foundations having been attacked so that they are partly undermined. At the place where the break occurred the roadway has been gouged out to a depth of three feet, in a gully 15 feet across.

The 48-inch main gave way at 1:55 p. m. and it was only a few minutes afterward that Darrohan Johnston heard the roar of the water and notified police headquarters. It was nearly two hours, however, before the men of the water company, assisted by members of the Brookline water department, got the two gates which controlled the flow shut off. It is estimated that 3,000,000 gallons of water rushed out in those two hours.

THOUSANDS OF LETTERS ON WAKE-FIELD CASE POUR INTO GOV. BALDWIN'S OFFICE

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 5.—Letters protesting against the execution of March 1 of the sentence of death on Mrs. Kate Wakfield for the murder of her husband continue to pour into the governor's office. About 1500 were received yesterday and 600 were delivered up to noon today. Practically all of these are outside the state, the greater number coming from middle and western states. Thousands of these letters are piled up in the governor's office. Gov. Baldwin has frequently said he has no authority to pardon Mrs. Wakfield or mitigate her sentence. He could grant a respite from execution.

ARGUMENTS IN GREEN CASE

The case of William F. Green vs. the city of Lowell came up for argument in the supreme judicial court at Boston yesterday. The case has been hanging fire for years and has been productive of many hearings. Mr. Green seeks to be reinstated as a call broker and the contention is that he never held that position. An auditor was appointed some time ago to collect the evidence and report to the supreme judicial court. The auditor held two or three hearings at city hall and submitted his report. City Solicitor Hennessy went to Boston yesterday to argue the case for the city. Jackson Palmer is counsel for Mr. Green.

WOULD LIKE REAL CASH

"Fresno" Dan, Russell Heir, is Tired of Being Rich in Newspapers—Lowell Bank in Case

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Fresno Dan, the heir to the Russell fortune, although still claiming he is to get $150,000 by the will of William C. Russell, says he is sick of being rich in the newspapers, and would now like to see some real cash.

Since he came to Melrose after the death of William Russell, the man who accepted him as his brother, he has seen but $25, he says, and this was given him by Ferdinand B. Almy, his cousin and executor of the will.

"I am certainly wealthy in the newspapers," said Fresno Dan last night, "but what I'd like to see is the cash. I suppose things will brighten up, though, within a few days. It seems kind of hard to live in poverty when a man is entitled to live in comfort."

Complicated Will

The man from Fresno finds it hard to understand the will of William C. Russell. It is still complex to him, and the one thing that seems to bother him is just why $25,000 was left in trust. He has visions of this money being wrongly invested and entirely lost, so that there will be no income from it.

Just how he is going to get the fortune left him is perplexing to Fresno Dan. "I suppose," he says, "that the property will have to be sold and turned into cash. William only left about $10,000 in cash, and if the others named in the will are to get their money, the property will have to be sold."

"The lawyers tell me that I am a man of property now. What I want is the cash. I got $25 when I came this time—more than I ever got before. You know I learned to live economically and this will do me quite a while yet. I've got quite a lot of it left."

"The lawyers got theirs," they were paid as the case went along.

When asked if he had ever signed away his rights to any of his share in the fortune, the Californian answered: "I don't think I ever did. I'm quite sure I didn't. The only thing I signed was something in regard to a mortgage on the building on Tremont street, Boston."

Lowell Bank Took Mortgage

"They tried to get a mortgage on the building and although it is worth about $300,000, they had a hard job doing it. The Old Colony Trust Company refused to take a mortgage, but later the Lowell Institute of Savings took one for $150,000. I signed because they didn't want to have any dealings with Daniel Russell. They wanted everything done by William C. Russell. I understood it was but temporary anyway."

"These lawyers, you know, are mighty tricky, but I'm quite sure I never signed away my rights to the property."

The contract that Fresno made with Senator George Cartwright of California, who came here from the west with Fresno, is another point which may cause trouble when the property is distributed. Senator Cartwright was to get, according to the contract, one-sixth of Fresno's share in case he inherited without litigation, and one-third in case there was litigation.

Fresno was accepted and there was no litigation and William Odlin, attorney for Fresno Dan, also attorney for Senator Cartwright, says that the matter will be easily settled. Senator Cartwright, he says, will receive what the contract calls for.

The Russell heir, however, doesn't like this plan. He feels that if there is any money to be given to Senator Cartwright it should come out of the whole estate and not from his share. "I've been thinking for about this contract with Cartwright today," he said last night, "but I thought that the contract was off. Mr. Cartwright when here three years ago, said something about calling it off. This was when I left here. When he came here he was to get one-sixth if there was no litigation, and when there wasn't any there was something said about one-tenth. It was so easy he didn't want to take a big pile."

"DANOKA DAN" TO CONTEST THE WILL OF WILLIAM C. RUSSELL

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—With the announcement by Judge Sheldon of the supreme court yesterday that the finding of Master Gilbert A. A. Levey, in the famous Russell identity case, would be reviewed by the supreme court Dec. 16, came the statement by Atty. William L. Scharton for Dakota Dan, the rejected claimant, that the will would be contested.

The assistant of a hearing on the master's finding before the supreme court came after a motion of Atty. Robert Nason for the estate that the finding of the master be confirmed. Atty. Scharton protested, arguing that certain motions of his should be heard first, and charging that the finding was unconstitutional.

Following the court procedure Atty. Scharton declared that the filing of the finding by no means ended matters. "Read it over," he said, "Doesn't it sound foolish to you that a man should have $150,000 to a man and then suppose that he should only be allowed $25 for his support? Why, a man could hardly subsist on that."

In an interview with press representatives Atty. Scharton attacked "Fresno Dan," scoring his illiteracy and general characteristics, saying that the man from the Russell family would never be guilty of calling the women of Melrose or any other place "old hens."

MEN'S RETREAT TO CLOSE

MISSION OPENED AT SACRED HEART CHURCH WEDNESDAY WILL END TOMORROW NIGHT

The men's retreat at the Sacred Heart church which opened on Wednesday will be brought to a close tomorrow evening. The final services will be held at 8:30 o'clock and will consist of recitation of the rosary, blessing of religious articles, sermon, papal benediction, recitation of the Holy Name society, congregational singing and ending with solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament, during which special music will be rendered by the choir, under the direction of John J. Kelly.

At last evening's services Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. I., who has charge of the retreat, preached an instructive sermon on "Faith." During his discourse he urged his hearers to be faithful to their duties, not only when a mission or retreat is being conducted, but at all times. He congratulated the men on their large numbers, and impressed upon all the necessity of attending the final services tomorrow night. By participation in the closing services all will receive the special jubilee indulgence, authorized by the pope.

KNABE MURDER

Office Girl of Murdered Woman Testifies at Trial

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Dec. 5.—Miss Katherine McPherson, office girl for Dr. Helene Knabe, for whose murder Dr. William B. Craig now is on trial here, late yesterday was put on the witness stand by the state. The witness described the finding of Dr. Knabe's body, the condition of the flat and her employer's habits.

Miss McPherson testified that she had seen Dr. Craig in Dr. Knabe's apartments twice and had seen the former bring her employer in his automobile to the house several times. She also identified a photograph of Dr. Craig and his daughter Marion, as one which Marion had given to Dr. Knabe.

The witness said that when she entered the room in which Dr. Knabe had met death, the window curtain was raised about one foot from the bottom of the window. The state insisted upon this testimony, it was said, on the theory that when Joseph Carr, a previous witness, passed the house, Dr. Knabe was being murdered.

Carr on cross-examination declared that when he passed the apartment house in which Dr. Knabe lived, he heard screams, but declared there was no light to be seen in any of the rooms.

The state contends that the murderer had pulled down the curtain and was cutting Dr. Knabe's throat when Carr passed. Later, it is contended, the slayer returned to the flat, raised the curtain and turned on the electric light.

Dr. Knabe's kimono, which the state attempted to get before the jury, and which was found in possession of an Indianapolis undertaker, was shown to Miss McPherson. She testified that the last time she had seen the garment was on the Saturday before Dr. Knabe's death, when it was hanging in a closet of a room where the doctor met death.

"Then it was a pretty navy blue, with poppy flowers," the witness explained, "and now it looks like a faded rug."

The state contends that the garment was washed with chemicals to take out blood stains, after it had been carried away from Dr. Knabe's office.

During her examination, Miss McPherson was extremely nervous, and once the trial was halted until the witness could be given a glass of water.

When the witness was turned over to the defense she was excused after a few questions.

Arnold Moore, one of the state's principal witnesses, failed to identify as Dr. Craig the man Moore said he saw peeping into the woman physician's bedroom at night.

CAMPERS HELD DANCE

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR CONDUCTED IN ASSOCIATE HALL LAST NIGHT BY MUSKETAGUIC CANOE CLUB

The Musketaquic Canoe club, comprised of a group of young men who spent the summer months on the shores of the Concord river, held its fourth annual dancing party in Associate hall last night. A large number of friends of the club was present at the affair which was of greater splendor than any other event ever conducted by these young men.

The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with the club colors and banners outlining the gallery and stage. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 until 12 to music furnished by Brodick's Novelty orchestra, and all through the order continued but 30 numbers it was necessary for the orchestra to respond with encores at intervals throughout the evening.

The officers of the evening were: assistant general manager, George A. Kirwin; assistant general manager, Nelson Depocher; door director, Walter Brown; chief of staff, Timothy H. Lynch; aids, James Broderick, Harry Deaton, Fred McIntire, Joseph McGinnis, Timothy Finnegan, Albert Carney, Harry Oshon, John Healey, Thomas Fitzgerald, John Egan, James Cusick and John Shanley.

RETREAT FOR WOMEN

WILL CLOSE AT THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH TOMORROW EVENING AT 6:30 O'CLOCK

The retreat which has been conducted during the past week for the women of the Immaculate Conception parish will come to a close on Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock by a special service, at which Fr. Donnelly, O. M. I., D. D., will preach. The affair will be unusually solemn and will be followed by a procession of the Children of Mary, junior and senior branches, Immaculate Conception sodality and the other church societies.

It is expected that the church will be crowded to its capacity Sunday evening. For during the week there have been very large congregations, and the number of communicants at the 5:15, 6:30 and 8 o'clock masses was unusual, even for the Immaculate Conception church where retreats are attended with phenomenal success. Rev. Fr. Donnelly has made a deep impression by his scholarly and beautifully delivered sermons, and the people of the parish hope that at some future time they will again have the pleasure of attending a retreat at which he will be the principal preacher. He will speak at the 11 o'clock mass on Sunday as well as at the evening services.

One of the Most Extraordinary Newspaper Features Ever Published

20,000 Miles in the Path of Napoleon

100 Years After His Downfall

BY JAMES MORGAN OF THE BOSTON GLOBE

No writer has ever made such a journey as that made by Mr. Morgan in procuring the material for this series. He went in a newspaper fashion to all the great scenes in Napoleon's active life to gain vivid first-hand impressions and collect new material and pictures for a distinct newspaper feature. To do this he spent thousands of dollars, and in five months traveled more than 20,000 miles.

A traveler specially fit—Mr. Morgan is specially fitted for this task by a long and varied newspaper experience, and by his acknowledged gift of writing clear and beautiful and at the same time popular English. His numerous biographical works, published by the Macmillan Company, particularly "Abraham Lincoln, the Boy and Man," have obtained high commendation and popular favor. Each instalment of this marvelous story will be a complete and satisfying feature in itself.

CHAPTER No. 1

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

LOWELL'S FINANCIAL STANDING

The municipal campaign is now practically ended and the financial issue will stand as one of the greatest importance in swaying the minds of reasonable people who believe in a clean and progressive administration. It has been shown that the amount borrowed for current expenses this year was not abnormal considering the exigencies unforeseen and otherwise that had to be met. On the other hand the amount borrowed for permanent improvements was larger than usual but few, if any, will say that the money was not spent as well as any outlay for similar purposes in the past.

Yet in spite of this there is a great howl that the city is heavily burdened with debt, that the debt limit has been exceeded and that we are on the verge of bankruptcy, all of which is sheer nonsense.

The absurdity about the debt limit brought out a statement from the city auditor showing that in spite of all that has been said to the contrary the distance from the debt limit is about $247,000, which is not such a bad showing.

Before the primaries we presented figures showing that in the amount of indebtedness eight other cities led Lowell, while in population only three exceeded her, Boston, Worcester and Fall River. We showed that the per capita debt of Lowell is insignificant compared to that of some other cities but certain wisacres objected that we should have computed the comparative debt-standing on the percentage of debt to the valuation in each of the cities considered. Taking the last statement sent out in 1911 by Chief Gettemy on municipal finances for the cities of the state, the following calculation is given and we do not believe that any great change has taken place since so far as the relative position of Lowell is concerned:

Cities	Population	Net debt 1910 of percentage of valuation
1 Cambridge	104,529	7.77
2 Gloucester	24,328	7.23
3 Brockton	56,578	6.58
4 Taunton	32,259	6.47
5 Quincy	32,542	6.42
6 Chelsea	22,452	6.35
7 Newburyport	14,549	6.15
8 Pittsfield	22,121	5.91
9 New Bedford	36,552	5.81
10 Newton	39,808	5.67
11 North Adams	12,018	5.62
12 Boston	570,585	5.32
13 Marlborough	14,579	5.28
14 Haverhill	44,115	5.01
15 Holyoke	37,739	4.95
16 Fitchburg	37,826	4.91
17 Everett	23,484	4.84
18 Lynn	38,326	4.63
19 Fall River	119,295	4.55
20 Chicopee	25,761	4.55
21 Beverly	18,606	4.15
22 Worcester	145,129	4.01
23 Melrose	14,194	3.97
24 Lawrence	41,532	3.81
25 Salem	43,691	3.74
26 Woburn	15,268	3.72
27 Lowell	106,254	3.33

This table bears out the statement already made that Lowell does not carry an abnormal debt as compared with the other leading cities of the state, taken either on the comparison of debt to population or to valuation. The average percentage of debt to valuation for all the cities of the state as computed by Mr. Gettemy in the table here quoted is 5.05, while the percentage for Lowell is 3.33.

The fact is, that Lowell, her standing and resources have been so belittled by campaign liars that the citizens who give any credence to the charges must feel that it is something in the nature of a misfortune to live in Lowell. These defamers of our city claim to be its defenders but they are in reality its worst enemies.

We can say to the credit of Mayor O'Donnell that he has always upheld the dignity, the honor and the good name of the city of which he is the chief executive and in the face of the many difficulties incident to the application of a new form of government, he has made such a good showing that in order to give the city the benefit of his valuable experience, his business tact and judgment and to carry out the various lines of public improvement already outlined, he should be re-elected. This is a matter upon which the voters should exercise their best judgment and not be misled by any tinsel claptrap ingeniously devised to impose upon their intelligence.

WORK BENEFICIAL TO ALL

For the one individual who becomes a nervous wreck or seeks a haven in a cathartic because of overwork, there are several who become physical and mental ruins through inactivity. Some of the wealthiest men in the history of the country were fully cognizant of this fact and arranged their domestic matters so that their heirs could not become indolent sloths whose greatest sin in life would be the chronic squandering of the fortune arduously accumulated. Nevertheless the papers are full of evidences of defective mentality and degeneracy which are the direct result of a mind made morbid and a body made unhealthy from mental and physical inactivity.

If many of the inmates of our institutions for the insane and feeble minded are there because of empty lives there is a peculiar fitness in some of the most modern methods of treatment. It is now being acknowledged by experts in mental diseases that one of the best means to effect partial or total cures is to give the afflicted something to do. At the state hospital in Tewksbury at the present time is an exhibition of arts and crafts in which are displayed specimens of the work of the inmates of all the state institutions for the insane, and it would compare very favorably with the choice work of those who are in full possession of their mental faculties. The state institutions maintain workshops for their patients, but most of the work about the grounds and farms is also done by them. At the famous McLean hospital in Waverly, where the inmates are given the most modern and scientific treatment, a workshop is maintained with splendid results.

It is not alone the mentally handicapped who are now being taught to supply themselves to work, but all manner of invalids and cripples. Our schools for the blind are doing wonders and of the training for the deaf and dumb we recently saw the most wonderful embodiment in the world-renowned Helen Keller. A new era has dawned on the world of medicine, and many old theories are being exploded. When we see such splendid results from the industrial experiments now being conducted with regard to invalids, we may hope for very important developments.

DEMOCRATS GETTING TOGETHER

Quite a little partisan gush is being voiced in some quarters owing to a dinner recently given by Gov-elect Walsh to about 100 leading democrats of the state, mostly those who will have a voice in legislative matters at the next session. Some vehemently protesting individuals profess to believe that Mr. Walsh looks upon himself merely as the governor of the democrats of the state. Nothing could be farther from the truth. But, in all his official acts Mr. Walsh will be judged as a democrat, and he will be measured against the ideal he announced in his advocacy of the democratic platform before election. It is eminently fitting, therefore, that he organize his forces so as to facilitate the introduction of the reforms to which he and his party are pledged. In politics as in business generally nothing can be achieved unless there is a recognized head and the president or governor who would do the most effective work will not neglect the practical preparations for efficient organization that are not only lawful but desirable. In getting his party into working order Mr. Walsh follows the example of President Wilson, whose achievement as a leader of men is one of the greatest political wonders of the age.

GOOD ROADS LEGISLATION

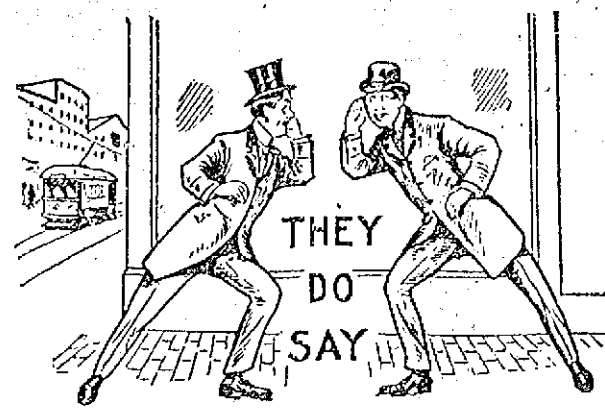

Those who agitate good roads throughout the country will find much encouragement in sectional agitations favoring them everywhere, and in universal state legislation to the same end. Under a recent act which the supreme court of Ohio has declared constitutional that state proposes to construct 9,000 miles of modern highway connecting all its cities and large towns with modern roadways. About $5,000,000 will be expended yearly for this object, the bulk of which is to be distributed among the counties and the balance to be used by the state highway commission. Each county will receive about $30,000 annually with the condition that it raise a similar amount for the same object. The state fund is provided by means of a special tax on property and out of the fees for automobile licenses. The plan is receiving general endorsement in all parts of the state.

This scheme has the two features most commonly favored by those who favor good road legislation. It provides for a distribution of the financial burden between the state and county, and an equal taxation, comparatively, of all the citizens, in securing the necessary funds. Meantime the agitation for federal aid in road building is going on. Two bills recently introduced in congress have this object, though they would leave the control of the roads still in the hands of the state under federal supervision. Improved highway systems are being adopted throughout Massachusetts. New Hampshire and elsewhere, and a spirit has been awakened in this direction which promises to wipe out our ancient reproach of primitive and unscientific roads in all parts of the nation before it subsides.

THE SPELLBINDER

Suppose a stranger coming to our city had read the fake accounts of crime committed in our city, the alleged negligence of the police to enforce the law, the prevalence of gambling and the iniquity of certain hotels in Lowell he would naturally conclude that it would be dangerous to stop overnight in any local hostelry and that no man suspected of having a dollar in his pocket could walk our streets in safety. But if this stranger sets out to investigate, he finds nothing to substantiate these charges. No murders, no manslaughter, no dangerous assaults and no offenses of any kind beyond the happenings that occasionally occur in the heat of passion of the police. He could visit our hotels and find them quite as orderly and respectable as those of any similar city; he could look for disorderly divers from their perches than any other city in Massachusetts.

How then, he would be led to ask, are these alarming stories put in circulation? The only answer is, that we have a candidate running for mayor on the Brown plan of campaign under which the chief thing is to make charges of vice, immorality and corruption that will scare quiet God fearing people out of their wits. There are people at this hour so alarmed by the stories of crime circulated and largely manufactured in this campaign, that they will not enjoy a sound night's rest until after the election on next Tuesday unless somebody tells them the truth about the charges.

Fake Wave of Crime

Here is a sample: A young sailor said to be on furlough, came to Lowell and reported the loss of $165 while intoxicated. Part of the Murphy campaign consists in making it appear that the local hotels are mainly houses of ill repute and hence they are accused of robbing the sailor thus:

"After showing his roll in bar-rooms, men on the lookout for just such easy money, took the young sailor in tow, and showed him where he could get a good time. It is alleged that they took him to a 'hotel' where there were girls who are also in the business of making soft money. The good time cost the sailor all of his bank roll, for when he found himself alone on the street, a reeling drunk, he was penniless and friendless."

The young man, it is alleged, met the Rev. Mr. King, and while intoxicated told him a pitiful story of losing his money. The police went out on the story and Inspector Welch recognized in this youth the same sailor who was in Lowell a year ago, who told a similar story of losing money, won the sympathy of a militia officer who as a result put him up for the night. In the morning the sailor went off with a $15 dollar revolver and the police have been looking for him ever since.

The belief is, that he lost no money but told the story as he did a year ago to win sympathy. As the militia officer did not care to proceed against him, the police gave him fifteen minutes to get out of town as he was not only a drunkard but a confidence man and a thief. Such is the material from which the "wave of crime" is evolved. This is a sample of the stuff manufactured to blacken the police department and boost the candidacy of Mr. Murphy for mayor.

The Police Department

There has been a great deal of talk about an alleged rupture between Mayor O'Donnell and Supt. Welch of the police department. It was even alleged that the mayor restricted the superintendent's freedom in the enforcement of the law, and that as a result certain violations of the law have been overlooked by the police. Mayor O'Donnell denied this and gave out a number of questions which he wished the public to ask Supt. Welch. This gentleman refused to answer them presumably because his silence would help the mayor's opponent, but he gave as his reason that he did not wish to be drawn into the controversy.

It should be understood that Supt. Welch felt keenly disappointed that Mayor O'Donnell did not recommend him for an increase of $500 in his salary when giving the patrolman an increase. But the patrolman had received no increase for nearly thirty years and they were entitled to all they got, while the superintendent was not so badly off with a salary of $2900. It should be remembered that Mayor O'Donnell did not have the power to increase the pay of the superintendent but he did have the power voluntarily to increase the pay of the men and he did so. The superintendent is elected and his salary fixed by vote of the municipal council.

Matter For Municipal Council

Moreover, some people seem to forget that under the new charter the mayor is the responsible head of the department although he did not make a habit of making himself officious about the station. Indeed some people say that if he had asserted his authority a little more the superintendent would not now remain silent while the department is being assailed for political effect.

Mr. Murphy's Single Term

You have all read Mr. Murphy's announcement that if elected he would not be a candidate for re-election, because he believes it to be the object of the charter to do away with the re-election of mayors, because he will not have to work for a re-election, and because he can thus go into office free of all personal obligations and remain so during his entire term.

Now these are very lofty motives and calculated to inspire the confidence of the unwary who could not see the ulterior motive lurking in the background.

What is that motive? Well, the politicians who know the ropes assert that in spite of all Mr. Murphy's because he did not tell the voters the real reason why after the primaries he announced that if elected he would not seek a re-election, or in other words that he would get out of the way of the French candidate for mayor.

It will be remembered that Mr. Murphy did not say anything about a single term until after the primaries. Then the French-American citizens found that Dr. Mignault was beaten by a small margin and his very defeat made them more determined than ever to have their candidate for mayor elected on the first opportunity. They then reasoned that it would serve their purpose better to have O'Donnell re-elected as he would get out of the way at the end of his two years, whereas if Mr. Murphy were elected he would hear a call for a second term and thus the French-American candidate would have to engage in another contest very much similar to that in which Dr. Mignault was defeated. With such a prospect the opposition to Mr. Murphy among the French would be quite general, but just as soon as the attitude of the French-Americans became known, Mr. Murphy suddenly discovered a great many objections to a second term and his announcement to this effect quickly followed. While his action in this matter suggests Aesop's fable of the sour grapes, the lawyers would designate it by a more expressive term. This offers a key to Mr. Murphy's methods as applied to the public for election as mayor. It may be stated in passing that the charter offers no objection whatever to a mayoralty candidate seeking re-election, but on the contrary, its aim being to attain the best, it would place the man of experience ahead of the one who shows ability chiefly as a political muddlinger. Under the city charter of Lowell a mayor may be re-elected for an unlimited number of times or just as often as the people want him. It is absurd to say that either in spite of or in better than the charter imposes any restriction whatever. I understand that Mayor O'Donnell, if re-elected, will not again be a candidate, so that there will be a clear field for new aspirants.

Agent Cumcock's Advice

At this time when the muckrakers are working overtime I would like to commend to the voters of Lowell the words of Agent A. G. Cumcock in a speech at the Textile school on the occasion of the visit of the bankers to Lowell. Mr. Cumcock said:

"There are too many muckrakers in Lowell. There are men in our midst who are pleased to say disparaging things about our people and our city. This practice of giving our city a black eye on every conceivable occasion ought to be stopped. Instead of throwing stones at our mayor and commissioners we should say that they are good men and that they are doing good work. Instead of throwing stones at them we should give them our undivided support."

The Contagious Hospital

I notice the state board of health which Mr. Mills of the Locks and Canals company is a member, has taken steps to force certain cities including Lowell to build contagious hospitals. Lowell for $5000 can comply with the requirements of the law, but the hospital proposition that has been under consideration is one that would provide not only for the ordinary contagious diseases but also for tuberculosis. The hospital is a public necessity and it will be built next year at the latest. Meantime we can get along as we have done in the past without any serious menace. Mayor O'Donnell it should be said, has on several occasions moved to adopt a hospital site but the council as a whole was opposed. It appears that the municipal council will have to go outside the city limits for a site that will not stir up serious opposition. It would be well to build a hospital in one of the suburban towns and then annex the town.

Athletes and Athletics

The proposed athletic club in Chicago will be the first thing in the present plans to be pushed to completion. The club will be called the "Sportmen Club of America." The name may become confused with O'Hara's National Sportsmen Club of America. However, the New York promoter should worry when the Chicago club opens up with a backing of more than half a million in cash. James A. High, the president, is a yachting expert and will devote a great deal of time to this sport. A stadium with seating capacity of 16,000 is one of the features.

Jacky McFarland, the prize of the stock yards, will enter the political arena. It is rumored from Chicago. The clever lightweight (2) has been endorsed by the city democratic committee for senator in his district and as it is a strong democratic ward, things look bright for Party on election day. He should be a great help to his party on the floor of the legislature in case of a too-heated debate.

The owners of the Brooklyn club are not yet ready to admit that Fletcher Anderson is a free agent, even if Secretary Farrell of the national commission does say so. They claim that a mistake must have been made by the commission. That matter of $33,333, which was awarded Anderson as well as also troubling them much.

Hugh McBrean is being hoisted as the next possible manager of the Red Sox. McBrean and John L. Taylor are both interested in several joint ventures and, through their association, they claim that McBrean will land the job. He was one of those at the recent meeting of the New England league in Boston.

Bill Dalen, "deposed" chief of the Brooklyn Superstars, will probably act as head scout for the Boston club. Dalen is a great judge of baseball players and is especially strong on sizing up the youngsters. Dalen, who was formerly chief scout for Brooklyn, will manage the Newark club next season.

The perfect football weather which we have had after Thanksgiving day for the past several years is holding on this year. In fact the afternoon now are more ideal for the football sport than at any time during the season. The New England football season is little to be lengthened, among the prep schools at least, with a few more autumn of the brand we are enjoying now.

That sweet soul, Fletcher Henderson, former Manager of the short things ago that he would not expect to be

Richmond, Va. team next spring. A letter has been received from the Richmond manager, however, in which he states that Henderson has changed his mind and will sign a Richmond contract in the spring. Henderson, although he was always looking up a row while here, did not like to leave Lowell as his baseball home.

Jimmy Gray expects to attend the meeting of the National league which will be held in New York next week. The Lowell manager is on the lookout for players and will probably bring back a few new signatures for his payroll.

Bay Wood might make a success of wrestling. His tactics last night showed conclusively that the Fall River fighter is some grapple on occasions. The rap that both he and Gallant got when they pitched out of the ring will act as a souvenir of their trip to Lowell.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team is trying to arrange a game with the basketball players of the C. Y. M. C. It is quite possible that these two teams may come to an agreement in the near future. If they do the fans will have an opportunity to witness a chess game of basketball. It will be a hard task, however, to find an amateur five which can lay it over the Y. M. C. A. boys.

The "come back" of Ted Pearson is causing a great deal of comment among Y. M. C. A. athletic circles. Ted has been away from athletics for several seasons but one would never guess it from the manner in which he hustles around the basketball surface.

Manager Stallings is headed north for the National league meeting of next Tuesday in New York. The Braves' leader is spending the winter on his plantation in Georgia where he is plotting plans for the success of the Boston Nationals next season.

Dick Hahnbil, the star first baseman of the Reds, applied formally for the berth of Manager of the Cincinnati team yesterday. The lucky fellow is being looked upon with favor by the owners of the team, who seem to think that he would make an excellent field general.

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, had his little chat with Joe Tinker yesterday and the result was agreeable to both of them. Clarke said after the conference that he would make every possible move to land Tinker for the Pirates.

BLOW AT WAR

Royal Order Prohibiting
Importation of Arms
Into Ireland

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The British cabinet, by a royal proclamation promulgated yesterday, prohibited the importation of arms and ammunition into Ireland, and for the first time grasped the seriousness of the revolution in Ulster, which it had hitherto ignored, although the followers of Sir Edward Carson for months had been advertising their military preparations in every possible way and daring interference with them.

Almost at the same time of the publication of the proclamation Premier Asquith made the longest step towards the conciliation of the Ulsterites that the government has taken by announcing his acceptance of the principles for a basis of agreement which Sir Edward Carson suggested in his last speech.

These principles are:
First.—The settlement must not be humiliating or degrading to Ulster.
Second.—Ulster's treatment must not be different or exceptional from that meted out to the other parts of the United Kingdom.

Third.—Ulster must retain full protection of the Imperial parliament.
Fourth.—The home rule bill must not be such as to lead to ultimate separation of Ulster from Great Britain.

Thus the government extends to the signers of the Ulster covenant the olive branch.

The proclamation prohibiting the importation of arms and ammunition into Ireland, which King George signed at a meeting of the privy council Thursday, and which was published in the

Irish American A. C. to Send at Least Ten Men, Headed by M. W. Sheppard
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Irish American Athletic club has decided to send at least ten men, headed by M. W. Sheppard, the hero of several Olympic series to represent it in the Australian Olympic games to be held in Athens during May of next year. This team is expected to form the nucleus of a squad from all over the United States who will wear the shield in competition against the picked men of other nations. The athletic members of the club are said to be a unit on the proposition that the best athletes of the club should obtain from any serious competition this winter in order that they may be fit for the Athens Olympic games to be held in Athens during May of next year.

WOOD AND GALLANT DRAW FEDERAL LEAGUE

Fall River Boy Shaded Gallant
but Used Rough Tactics in Bout
Here Last Night—Other Bouts

Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea and Bay Wood of Fall River fought 12 rounds to a draw at last night's meeting of the Lowell A. C. on the floor of the Crescent rink. Some 1200 sports watched the fight from the gallery and ringside.

There was plenty of mixing in every round although the mugging was very rough. Both men tumbled out of the ring in each other's arms. In one session, Wood was thrown to the floor or canvas on six different occasions while Gallant hit the dust three times.

Wood went at Gallant in his usual manner rushing his opponent to the ropes from the top of the going. These tactics were very disastrous to both of the fighters for the ring was equipped with two ropes and it was all easy matter to slide between both and Jimmy Gardner was kept busy at both ends in several of the rounds in an effort to keep them inside the ring.

It was a battle royal between two heavy hitting fighters and each man lived up to his reputation. Slam-bang with each hand was the order of the evening and the stamina of both Gallant and Wood was well proven by the manner in which they kept up the pace.

Wood used his left hand to Gallant's face to good advantage. He had the reach on the Chelsea fighter and made the most of it although Gallant used his left jab with precision in the first two rounds.

Wood had a war on his nose and Gallant promptly pegged the skin from it in the first session. Wood retaliated with a terrific left hook to the jaw which was the hardest blow struck in the first few rounds. There was some bad judging in this round. Wood had a shade.

The second round was even with Wood still jabbing while Gallant tried to reach him with either hand as he came in. Wood kept both hands to his face however, and he was not in a hard work to make much impression. Wood rushed Gallant to the ropes four times in this round and took several left hooks in the body.

Wood shaded Gallant in the third with his straight lefts. Gallant tried the blood run from the cut in Wood's face with a hard hook to the spot. There was some hard judging in the round of which Wood had the better landing on Gallant's kidneys with both hands almost at will.

Both out of Ring
The fourth round found both men on the floor of the hall with Wood on the bottom. The pair got into a clinch near Wood's corner and fell through the ropes with a thud. Wood was very strong from a crack in the head he received in the fall. Gallant took advantage of this fact and forced the belching. Wood did little more than hang on for the remainder of the session. It was Gallant's round.

Gallant kept up his advantage in the fifth and snapped both hands to Wood's face. Wood's eye was puffed and nearly closed when he took his corner. It was Gallant's round.

The sixth session was very nearly an even thing, although Gallant had a slight advantage. Wood was taken about the head with both hands and returned punishment to Gallant's body. When the bell rang Wood refused to stop and hit Gallant until the referee pulled them apart.

Wood landed good lefts
Wood got his straight left going in great shape in the seventh and kept it popping into Gallant's mouth with good effect. Gallant's lips were puffed and bleeding when he took his corner. Wood was still rushing. It was Wood's round.

Wood continued his left hand tactics in the eighth and Gallant could not get inside of it. In spite of all Gallant could do Wood's left kept smacking him in the face. Both men landed heavy blows to the kidneys and stomach, although Wood's were the harder and better placed. It was Wood's round.

By the ninth Gallant landed a hard right uppercut to Wood's body which failed to stop the latter. He still shot home left jabs and put over two hard rights. Just before the bell there was a furious mixup near Gallant's corner of which Wood had the better. Wood's round.

Gallant Sends in Uppercut
Gallant got in another healthy uppercut in the tenth to Wood's body. The blow was partially blocked this time. Wood made up for this by his two-handed fighting and forced the going until the bell. Wood had a shade.

The 11th was also Wood's round.

although the 12th was practically an even thing. Wood slipped out of the ring in the last round and many thought that he was knocked out, but he was up and in the ring again in a flash.

The decision was a draw. Although Wood shaded his opponent in the majority of the rounds he was very rough in his tactics and would not heed the referee when ordered to break. This probably cost him the decision.

Corrigan Gets Decision
The semi-final of eight rounds was a rather tame affair with Otto Mantel of Pawtucket and Billy Corrigan of Cambridge in the opposite corners. Corrigan led in the first three rounds, but Mantel finished the fight hard. Mantel landed the harder blows throughout the contest, although Corrigan's left hand played havoc with his features. The decision was given to Corrigan.

Billy Brooks showed well in his go with Young Turner. The latter was heavier and appeared very anxious to start something. He did when he hit Billy a snuff in the stomach, but he couldn't finish it. Turner was knocked out in the opening session.

Young Bennett and Young Hurton boxed a six-round draw in the first bout. Both boys were on their feet at the end of the fight and the decision was well received.

List They Want for Their
Organization From 2
Major Leagues

The Federal league is a modest little association and its officials are quite bashful about asking for what they want. Yes they are not! The New York Sun has the following to say on the list sent compiled by the officials of the outlaw organization:

"At the Federal league meeting in Pittsburgh last Saturday Secretary Lloyd Rickard produced this list, but admitted that none of the players named therein had agreed to sign. He reported that the players were waiting to find out how the matter would be treated by the National commission in January. From a trustworthy source the names of the players discussed follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati—Mordcan Brown, Bates, Sheppard, Hobbitt and Bender.

Chicago—Zimmerman, Schulte, Leach, Hobbitt, Riche and Lavender.

Pittsburgh—John Miller, Wilson, McCarthy, Dolan and Mitchell.

St. Louis—Kontochy, Sallee, Oakes and Ellis.

New York—Herring, Murray, Wilson, Marquand and Crandall.

Philadelphia—Ficker, Devore, Campana, Chalmers and Byrne.

Boston—Nap Myers, Perdue and Mann.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis—Stevall, Agnew, Edgington, G. Williams and Wellman.

Detroit—Stamag, O. Bush, Moriarty and Dubuc.

Athletes—E. Collins, L. Bush, Penneck and O'Brien.

New York—Ford, Sweeney and Creg.

Red Sox—Wood, Cady, Henrichson, Eagle and H. Collins.

Washington—Vester, Gedeon, Engel and Williams.

Cleveland—Lajole, Johnston, Mitchell and O'Neill.

White Sox—Chase, Sullivan, Rath and Russell.

DIAMOND NOTES

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will confer Sunday with Joe Tinker in Chicago. The deposed Cincinnati leader, with a view to having Tinker join the Pirates, according to a story published in Chicago recently.

Clarke already has arranged with the Cincinnati club for Tinker's release. It is said, whether reliable or not, that Tinker's release is a success. Wagner at shortstop, indicating the latter's impossible retirement or transfer to Cincinnati could not be learned.

President Gilmore of the Federal league, Denver, reports that Tinker is expected to come here ready to make contract with a Federal club.

Upon his arrival here from Kansas City Thursday afternoon, Tinker admitted he had arranged to meet Clarke next Sunday, but said an informal discussion of the joining of Pittsburgh team was all he expected would take place.

According to Tinker, he would play shortstop and Wagner would go to first base. His addition giving the Pirates an infield of four 350 hitters.

Tinker said he had not discussed a contemplated joining a Federal league club.

Fred Clarke will manage the Pittsburgh club next year. The annual Wagner retirement story was shot out of Pittsburgh the other day, despite the fact that it was stated positively a short time ago that the Giants would be back. When President Dwyer was asked concerning the matter, he said:

"Wagner will be in line for 1914. He has told me that he would play and we have practically agreed upon terms. He agreed to remain on in basic ball so that he could be in form for the season, and I believe he will have a good season in 1914."

Trainer Ed Laforce, who was present while President Dwyer was talking, broke in with:

"Wagner going to retire? Not any way. He has other day before he goes for Marion Phillips's farm at Buckle, Ind. he bet me a bat and a 340 suit of clothes that he would lead the league in batting next season. And I believe he's going to do that very thing."

Laforce and Wagner are great friends. The trainer believes the German is the greatest ball player that ever graced a diamond, and he knows whereof he speaks.

Charles H. Ebbetts, Jr., son of the president of the Brooklyn National league club, was elected president of the Newark club in the International league. Ebbetts' successor, George I. Solomon, who was chosen vice president. Brooklyn owns the Newark organization.

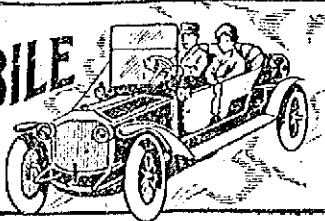

The engagement of Wilbert Robinson as manager of the Superbas will possibly necessitate the securing of a pitcher-nephew for the Giants because McGraw has not the time during the training season to look out for his big staff of pitchers and give them the attention they require.

Charlie Farrell, who once held the job with the Red Sox and the Yankees has been mentioned as Bobb's successor and "The Duke" is not so old that he could not fill the place satisfactorily. In fact, Bobb and Farrell in their prime as active players, and there are very few better coaches at third base than Charlie Farrell as he conclusively proved when with the Yankees and that is a job to be successful at that requires the best of judgment as to the speed of base runners, the throwing abilities of opposing fielders and the success of a game. The Giants have scarcely one good coach at the far corner outside of McGraw.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

A. A. A. HELD MEETING

NUMEROUS IMPORTANT BUSINESS MATTERS TRANSACTED AT REGULAR SESSION

The American Automobile association at its annual meeting just held in Richmond, Va., declared unequivocally that federal participation in highways improvement should be expressed so as to obligate the federal states to expend upon their market roads directly serving the farm population a sum proportionate to the national expenditure on the most used commercial roads connecting the great cities. It is the intention of the automobilists that the betterment of main and lateral roads shall be carried forward jointly in order to accommodate adequately increasing traffic needs.

John A. Wilson, of the Pennsylvania Motor federation, was elected to the presidency, succeeding Laurens Ruess of New York, who declined a second term. Mr. Wilson's long experience in automobile organization affairs guarantees an active administration of the national body. Dr. H. M. Howe, of the Automobile club of Maryland, of which state association he has been the head for the past five years, was advanced to the first vice presidency. R. W. Smith of Colorado was named as second vice president; F. L. Baker of California, third vice president; H. J. Clark of Minnesota, 4th vice president; and Preston Belvin of Virginia, fifth vice president. John N. Brooks of Connecticut continues as secretary. H. A. Donnell of New Jersey as treasurer; and A. G. Hatchelder as chairman of the executive board.

In the appointment of board chairmen, President Wilson named the following: Good roads, George C. Doherty, New York; legislative, C. C. James, Ohio; touring, Howard Lousheth Pennsylvania; contests, William Schmitt, New York. The executive board contains members from practically every state.

Beneficial endorsement was given to the Adams measure, which provides that after the automobile owner has registered his car in his own state he shall be privileged to go anywhere in the United States without additional registration. For many years the A. A. A. has sought federal registration of automobiles, but the bill put forward by Representative Adamson, of Georgia, exactly meets the needs of the situation, and it will enlist the unanimous support of all users of self-propelled vehicles.

Complimenting Secretary of the Interior Lane for his commendable work of making the national parks more available to road travelers, the association also placed itself on record as favoring increased federal appropriations for the national recreation regions, and pledged co-operation with the American Civic association in its movement for a bureau of national parks.

The meeting adopted comprehensive "Rules of the Road and Regulations of Road Traffic" which will be generally advocated throughout the entire country. These rules also refer to pedestrian plans in their use of the roads, and this feature will command universal interest, for it is generally recognized that the increased use of the highways makes absolutely necessary regulations covering pedestrians as well as vehicles.

In reference to the registration of automobiles, the association hereafter will be opposed to a registration tax unless same shall be in lieu of all other taxes, and the money thus raised expended in connection with roads maintenance. The so-called New Jersey test case, involving both a substantial registration tax and a personal property tax, has been taken to the U. S. supreme court and will be pressed with all due speed to its ultimate determination. This case originated during the occupancy of the A. A. A. presidency by Robert H. Hooper, who is serving his seventh term as the chief executive of the Pennsylvania body.

Upon the invitation of President L. R. Spence of the Massachusetts State association, the next annual meeting will be held in Boston. Since the 1912 gathering was in the west, the 1913 meeting in the south, and the next gathering in the east, in 1915 the association will again visit the western section of the country.

BENT TO MOTOR CAR SALESMEN
"First impressions go a long way toward determining the sale of an automobile, particularly if the prospective buyer is making his first investment," said John N. Willys, president of a well known automobile manufacturer of Toledo, O. "This is very often the case with a man who has not definitely decided upon any special type of car and who sees for the first time a feature in design or construction that is pleasing to him. He will then change from a lukewarm prospect to an eager listener and if the salesman is fortunate enough to be present at this, the psychological moment, he will catch the sale nine times out of ten."

LOCAL AUTO MEN

News of Interest to the Motorists From the Local Dealers

Nearly all of the local dealers have received and are now displaying their new 1914 auto models, and the cars of this year claim admiration of the motorists. There are many exchanges of older models in part payment for new ones at some of the salesrooms.

It is quite evident that the cars of today which have been constructed up to such a point of perfection will be standards for a long time to come. Improvements and additions will be effected each year, to be sure, but the owners of 1914 cars will not in the year 1915 or 1916, feel that their motors are out of date.

BUICK LINE
The entire Buick line of 1914 is being shown at the salesrooms of the Lowell Buick Co., in Appleton street. The feature is the big six-cylinder machine, one of the most attractive of the automobile products of this country, both because of its quality and because of the price. The same is in no small measure true of all the Buick machines.

Mr. Feindel's Sales
Mr. Feindel, whose salesroom for the Overland and Chevrolet cars is in Davis square, reports the following recent sales: Five passenger Overlands, electrically equipped, to J. G. Bailey of Billerica, T. R. Kirschner of Lowell, Hugh McDonald of Littleton, Mrs. Blanche Giddard of Lowell, Mrs. Josephine McDonald of Lowell, five passenger Overlands to Dr. H. D. Harris of Chelmsford, C. R. Peavey of Lowell, A. A. Welcome of Lowell; Mr. Feindel also sold a Chevrolet roadster, electrically equipped, to Albert W. Thompson and one of the same description to Dr. F. F. Pillsbury. He sold a Chevrolet touring car, electrically equipped, to J. H. Preston.

Boston Auto Supply Co.
Just at this time Mr. McGarry of the Boston Auto Supply in Bridge street is experiencing a very busy season. Mr. McGarry has greatly increased his stock during the past week, and has received a large consignment of tire chains of which he reports rapid sales. The vulcanizing and general repairing department is also being widely patronized, and the quality of the work of this shop is in every case appreciated. The motorists will find everything in the line of auto equipment at the Boston Auto Supply Co.

E. H. Smith Co.
The Goodrich tires are being featured by the E. H. Smith Co., at its establishment in Market street, and with no little success. This store has also a wide variety of other accessories which will please the motoring people of this city.

Hudson Light Six Here
Mr. George Russell Dana, Jr., brought the new Hudson "Six 40," or "Light Six," as it is sometimes called, to this city today. This news will please a great many who have become interested in this new Hudson product and who have been eagerly awaiting the arrival of the car at Mr. Dana's garage in East Merrimack street.

The Hudson Light Six is an automobile embodying the last word in auto construction. It has all of the qualities of the six cylinder car, and what is more important, of the Hudson engine, namely, smoothness, power and ease of operation and control. The price as an attractive feature, for it places the car within the easy reach of many who would otherwise have been placed on the market, would have been to be content with a four cylinder car.

Mr. Dana has aroused great interest in the new Hudson, and is confident of a successful season. Many people inspected the machine today, and the comment in every case was highly favorable.

THE ECONOMICAL BUICK

A recent New York dispatch says: "The second day of the New York reliability run, a jaunt of 175 miles up into Connecticut and back Thursday, was attended by a remarkable freedom from penalties considering the nature of the day's route. Starting in the morning from the Manhattan Automobile club, the tourists had a trip full of pleasant sailing up to New Haven. After luncheon at the Hotel Taft, they set out to the westward over a narrow dirt highway to Danbury and had still going to negotiate until they got back to New York and found there the Boston Post road and smoothly going the rest of the way into New York."

Strict orders against speeding had been issued by the referee, A. R. Gardner, who announced that any contestant receiving a summons for exceeding the speed limit in any town passed through would be immediately and summarily disqualified. To keep within the speed limits and still to make the right control at the Mitchell-Edmundston garage in West 54th street on time was a considerable test of driving skill, but not this time. Contestants incurred any further penalties and the score of Wednesday's run with eight of the 11 competitors having clean scores, stood at the conclusion of yesterday's run. There was again only one case of the trouble. Buick No. 1 getting a puncture. The gasoline consumption recorded by the contestants for the 175 miles was as follows:

Buick No. 1, 11 3/4 gallons; Buick No. 2, 9 1/2 gallons; Buick No. 3, 10 1/2 gallons; Buick No. 4, 10 gallons; Chandler No. 5, 19 1/2 gallons; Oakland No. 6, 29 gallons; Oldsmobile No. 7, 18 gallons; DeDion Bouton No. 8, 22 gallons; National No. 9, 16 gallons; Hudson No. 10, 12 1/2 gallons; Buick No. 11, 17 gallons.

RUN ON BANK

Man With Grudge Told Foreigners Institution Was in Difficulties

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A man who had a grudge against Ludslaw W. Schwank, who has a private bank and a steamship ticket office at 234 Bedford avenue, Williamsburg, went among the foreigners of the district yesterday afternoon and whispered to about that the institution was in financial difficulties and that any one who had money on deposit there would be wise to draw it out right away.

As a result of this a run started on the bank at 8 o'clock last night—it keeps open until 9 usually—which in an hour assumed such proportions that the police reserves were called out to control the clamorous mob of men, women and children.

Schwank happened to be in his bank when the first of the depositors came running through the entrance doors waving a greasy book and shouting out that he wanted his money and wanted it quick. The first man was the last one to come in the door alone. After him the depositors arrived so fast that they jammed the place and shouted threats and demands in a dozen tongues.

The banker at first didn't understand what had caused the trouble and didn't know why all his hitherto trusting clients had suddenly turned on him. One of the depositors finally told him the cause of the run.

Schwank and his perspiring cashiers and tellers paid out more than $10,000, mostly in small sums ranging from $5 to $100, with very few of the latter. The usual resources of banks in such situations were tried. Piles of cash were placed on the desks in plain view.

Over 1000 people gathered and to prevent a riot the police had to be called to quell the excitement.

CARDINAL OREGLIA DEAD

DEAN OF SACRED COLLEGE IN 'ROME DIED OF PNEUMONIA—WAS 85 YEARS OF AGE

ROME, Dec. 6.—Cardinal Luigi Oreglia, dean of the sacred college, died here yesterday of pneumonia. He was 85 years of age and was the last of the cardinals created by Pope Pius IX. Although the aged cardinal's death had been expected, Pope Pius X sustained a shock when Monsignor Giovanni Bressani informed him of the occurrence. The pontiff had always felt toward Cardinal Oreglia a sentiment of great respect and appreciation of the energy with which he had conducted the affairs of the Vatican during the interregnum between the death of Pope Leo XIII and his own election when Cardinal Oreglia was chamberlain of the congregation.

TWO HELD FOR ROBBERY

YOUNG MEN ARRESTED AT WOBURN ON CHARGE OF HOLDING UP WOMAN AND TAKING PURSE

WOBURN, Dec. 6.—After being identified by Mrs. George A. Kimball as the men who had robbed her last night, Homer Burke, 19 years of age, and Edward Tierney, 21, both of Manchester, N. H., were held today in jail of $1,000 each for a continued hearing in the district court on Dec. 10.

Mrs. Kimball alleges that the men held her up and stole her purse containing a small sum of money. Police trailed the men and arrested them in Winchester. A burglar's tool and several skeleton keys are alleged to have been found on Tierney.

Why the Buick Car is Right

Advertising used to be nothing but telling the people that certain goods were the cheapest. Later, somebody discovered that he had to claim his goods were the best. Again later, somebody else made the discovery that just saying so wasn't enough. People wanted to know the reason why.

Americans have been educated to the fact that cheap goods don't pay. They don't want cheap anything. They realize that good goods save time, money and disposition. And besides, there is always that added pleasure of buying something that's right.

The knowledge that they have something that's right is one reason why a Buick owner is always a Buick booster.

BUICK CARS ARE BUICK BUILT. THAT'S WHY THEY'RE RIGHT.

CAMPAIGN OF VENGEANCE 30 HOURS OF RAIN

Militants Angry Over the Arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst Set Fire to Valuable Building

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The campaign of vengeance for the rearrest of Mrs. Pankhurst was started in earnest by the militant suffragettes last night. They had marked for destruction exhibition buildings and the grandstands on the race tracks in Lancashire where Premier Asquith is spending the week-end in delivering a series of political speeches.

Two of the items on the militant suffragettes program were successfully carried out, for "arsen squads" set fire to and burned down exhibition buildings at Liverpool and Manchester. Their third attempt, however, was unsuccessful, the destroyers being frightened away by the approach of a policeman when they were preparing their combustibles to set fire to the grandstand on Aintree race course.

SET FIRE IN LIVERPOOL

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Dec. 6.—Militant suffragettes attempted today to destroy the exhibition buildings which have only been just closed for the winter months. The scenic railroad, a discovered in flames early this morning and the firemen had the utmost difficulty in preventing the spread of the fire to other buildings. As it was considerable damage was done. In the vicinity was found a letter addressed to Premier Asquith and a quantity of suffrage literature.

Downpours Continue to Fall in Kansas—Heavy Property Damage

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6.—Rains continued falling today in many parts of Kansas, where a week of wet weather has swollen the streams and caused considerable damage to farm property. At Fort Scott, Kas., a 30 hour downpour has caused a four foot rise in the Marion river. The bottoms were flooded at several points and farmers were moving livestock to higher ground.

While attempting to ford Timber creek, near Floral, Kas., in a wagon last night Archie Lowry, his wife and two children were swept down stream and one of the children was drowned.

Several central Missouri points report flooded streams and roads so deep in mud that farmers cannot get to market.

BUST OF FAMOUS CHEMIST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—It was announced at the American philosophical society last night that a bust which has reposed in the society's collection since 1810 has been identified within the past few days as that of Antoine Laurent Lavoisier, a celebrated French chemist. The work was identified by Paul Vitry, conservator of the art collection in the Louvre, who declares it is a fine example of the work of Houdon, the sculptor.

The society received the bust from William Short, who acted as secretary to Thomas Jefferson when the latter was ambassador to France.

The property is absolutely free and clear and the present owner will take a mortgage back of 75 per cent and 5 per cent if the purchaser so desires. Elect a Man

Who Knows

His Work

A MAN OF CHARLES J. MORSE'S TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE is needed at city hall next year. He will prove no EXPENSIVE ORNAMENT in office. Rather will be prove a tireless worker and persistent plunger for the advancement of the public welfare.

HE WILL KNOW HOW to conduct the affairs of certain departments without DEPENDING UPON OTHERS FOR ADVICE OR SUGGESTIONS. He will know how to set about doing his work without unnecessary delay and at a minimum of cost. In a word, he will know how to plan, lay out, and perfect the work of his department with EFFICIENCY AND DESPATCH. Is he not, Mr. Voter, the kind of man you should EMPLOY?

HOW MANY OF YOU CITIZENS remember the great piece of constructive sewer work put through a few years ago by Mr. Morse in the DROPPING OF THE SEWER IN MERRIMACK SQUARE. A work of stupendous difficulties and danger. The slightest miscalculation would have involved the city in thousands of dollars damage suits. This work was put through without one cent of liability incurred—permitted the erection of large buildings in the center of the city with increased revenue from taxation, and at a cost of $16,500, WITH A LARGE OUTSIDE CONTRACTING FIRM SAYING IT COULD NOT BE DONE LESS THAN $32,000.

YOU KNOW, MR. VOTER, that after all, good government simply means, capacity and ability on the part of those chosen to public office to deal in an intelligent manner with questions of public affairs. Mr. Morse has the ABILITY to take charge of several of your most important departments, is he not, therefore, entitled to your vote?

Honest,
Capable,
Experienced

Faithful
Consistent
Sincere

The citizens of Lowell who are sincerely desirous of the city's welfare are considering favorably the candidacy of COL. JAMES H. CARMICHAEL for member of the BOARD OF ALDERMEN

COL. CARMICHAEL is no unknown man—a tried quantity. Known to almost every man and woman in the city, he is respected for those qualities which beget confidence and command the honest admiration of the people.

For years he served the city in the Board of Aldermen under the former charter without pay. His record was one of FIDELITY, HONESTY, BREADTH AND CHARACTER. No petty scheming in small politics occupied his time or thought; he was the representative of ALL THE PEOPLE ALL THE TIME.

COL. CARMICHAEL is a fitting man to serve the city under the present charter which places a responsibility that requires for its proper discharge JUDGMENT, CONSIDERATION, POISE AND CHARACTER.

It is fitting that he should be selected to serve the city and give to it his time for the compensation provided by the charter since he served so well for so long a time with no compensation whatsoever but the satisfaction of duty done.

BIG WATER MAIN

Burst in Brookline

MANY HOUSES UNDERMINED

PROPERTY DAMAGE
AGGREGATING THOU-
SANDS OF DOLLARS

ANDREW E. BARRETT

(FROM THE BOSTON GLOBE)
BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Many workmen marched this morning to Dean and Clinton roads in Brookline and began to tear up the ground to uncover the giant water main of the Metropolitan system, which burst last night, five minutes before midnight, and flooded the whole district with a roaring current, carrying a heavy load of clay.
It was only when daylight came that it was possible to see what the force of the water had been. Dean road, for nearly a mile is entirely impassable on account of the dangerous holes the water dug, and the deep, thick mud. The road has been fenced off by the police.
The houses which got the worst of it are actually in a dangerous condition, their foundations having been attacked so that they are partly undermined. At the place where the break occurred the roadway has been gouged out to a depth of three feet in a gully 15 feet across.
The 18-inch main gave way at 11.30 p. m. and it was only a few minutes afterward that Patrolman Johnston heard the roar of the water and noticed the water company, assisted by members of the Brookline water department, got the two gates which controlled the flow shut off. It is estimated that 3,000,000 gallons of water rushed out in those two hours.
At the Chestnut Hill pumping station it was explained that the main, one of those supplying Boston, was an old one, laid by the Boston water department many years ago. At the point of the break it is buried 12 feet under ground, which accounts for the fact that there was no geyser, as in the case of a shallower break.

This break calls to mind a condition which existed in our city until a short time ago. How many citizens of Lowell realize that until Com. Barrett installed the main across the river at the Aiken street bridge the safety of the city depended on a single line crossing the river at Alder street and which was installed over 42 years ago. Imagine our condition if any break in this line came during the spring when the river is running full or during the winter months when it would be a long and expensive job to repair the break. During the time it would take to repair the damage the city would be forced to depend on the Cook wells for water, and as they have never produced over 25% of our supply it can readily be seen what our condition would be, and in case of a large fire at that time our city would be helpless. In view of these facts it certainly redounds to Mr. Barrett's credit that he had the courage and foresight to install this second line against all opposition and thereby remedy a dangerous condition which had been allowed to exist for too long a time. If a break in that main had occurred at any line during Barrett's administration what a cry would have gone up all over our city and severe condemnation would have come to the head of that department. Now, then, why not be fair and commend a public official for the good work that he does. Some of Mr. Barrett's critics have cried extravagance, but they have not shown such a condition. Is it extravagance to take the necessary steps to protect the lives and property of the community? We answer it is not, and we believe the citizens of Lowell will say so next Tuesday.

IN MOODY STREETUndertaker Albert and Charles
Barry Had Narrow Escape—
Automobile Badly Damaged

Undertaker Joseph Albert and one of his employees, Charles Barry, narrowly escaped serious injury last night, when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a large touring car owned and operated by Dr. T. A. Lemieux of Lawrence, at the corner of Moody and Aiken streets. Fortunately no one in the party was injured, but Mr. Albert's auto was badly damaged.

The corner of Moody and Aiken streets is a dangerous place and despite the fact that many accidents have occurred there, and signs of warning are posted there, motorists will not slacken their speed, and many pass the corner at an excessive rate. According to witnesses of last night's accident, Doctor Lemieux's machine, a large touring car, was being driven very fast.

Mr. Albert was driving his touring car up Aiken street toward Merrimack, at about 7:30 o'clock, and when he reached the corner of Moody he made a wide turn as is his custom, but at that moment he saw Dr. Lemieux's auto coming at a good clip down Moody street toward city hall. He barely turned the front wheels of his machine to the left, when the large automobile gave it a glancing blow, striking the front axle. Mr. Barry was thrown to the ground, but he received only a few scratches. Mr. Albert clung to the wheel and that saved him.

The Lawrence machine was brought to a stop some distance away and the doctor rushed to the assistance of the undertaker and his friend, but they proved to be uninjured. The auto however was badly damaged. The front axle was bent considerably, while the headlights were broken badly. The side of the car was also damaged. One of the mud guards of the Lawrence car was damaged. It was fortunate that the accident did not have a fatal result and this was due, according to many, to the quick action of Mr. Albert in driving his car to the left before the collision occurred.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 6.—Three hundred union teamsters who have been on strike since last Sunday midnight returned to work today and union officials say 1000 will be back in their old places by Monday morning. Only those drivers whose employers have signed contracts with the union are permitted to take out teams under the resolution adopted at yesterday's meeting of the teamsters.

Labor leaders declared that 300 employers have signed contracts agreeing to pay the union scale and not discriminate against union men but at the offices of the Vehicle Owners association it was said none of the large employers had agreed to the union's demands.

J. B. Densmore, sent here as a representative of the department of labor, probably will return to Washington tomorrow.

Joseph Goodhue, Jr., of Pawtucket, R. I., appeared in police court this morning to answer the charge of interrupting a funeral procession and pleaded guilty. It seems that the defendant was driving a machine through Lowell on Nov. 23 and, being in a hurry, did not allow a funeral procession to halt him. The number on his machine was taken after he had driven his auto between two hacks and he was summoned to appear here today. Sgt. Welch informed the court that the action of the defendant was rather headless than criminal and that he acted promptly when summoned to appear at the Lowell police court. In view of the fact that Mr. Goodhue had come such a distance Judge Emigh thought that he had been punished sufficiently and released him upon his payment of the costs of the trial.

Speeches Last Night

The candidates for mayor and alderman carried out their advertised schedule of speeches last night and talked to large crowds. Col. Carmichael, candidate for commissioner, addressed about 200 people at the corner of Mammoth road and Riverside street, telling them what he would do if elected, and stating that he would never vote to place a contagious hospital at any man's door. He favored a new bridge at Pawtucket falls and more improvements for Pawtucketville.

Dennis J. Murphy, candidate for mayor, came along as Col. Carmichael concluded and delivered an address in which he hinted that money was being used in behalf of Mayor O'Donnell. He criticized the mayor's advertisements and wanted to know where the mayor got the money to pay for them. He made the usual charges of gambling being carried on in the city while the police fail to follow up the offenders. After some further remarks, he was concluding his speech as Amos P. Best drove up in an automobile. Mr. Murphy, pretending to believe that it was Mayor O'Donnell, got up again in his auto and started in another speech.

BRAKEMAN KILLED AT BILLERICA

Lorin O. Morgan, the Victim, Well Known Here

He Had Worked in Merrimack Mills Before Taking Railroad Job

The body of Lorin O. Morgan, a brakeman employed on the Boston and Maine railroad, was found lying beside the tracks in front of the North Billerica station about 12:05 o'clock this morning. It is believed that the man while working on freight No. 62 was in some way knocked from his position on the car and run over.

Mr. Morgan was employed as a freight brakeman for the B. & M. for many years and for some time past had worked on a freight that runs between Boston and Concord, N. H. This train, No. 62, is scheduled to pass the station at North Billerica about 10 o'clock and whether it was late or the body lay on the tracks for two hours could not be learned. However, it is believed that the man died shortly after the accident, if not instantly.

The body was discovered by a railroad man on the 12:35 train from Boston and was put in one of the cars and brought to the local depot. Later it was removed to the parlors of J. F. O'Donnell and Sons. One of the man's arms was torn off and his skull was fractured. His clothing was badly ripped and pieces of his coat were found several feet away from the spot where the accident is supposed to have happened.

Mr. Morgan formerly lived in this city and was employed in the Merrimack mills for several years before securing the position on the railroad. For some time he has roomed at 5 Cross street, Somerville, and his wife lives in Haverhill. He is 32 years old and a member of several fraternal associations. He leaves besides his wife, a sister, Mrs. William A. McEvoy of Tenth street, this city.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH REQUESTS ATTORNEY GENERAL TO PROCEED AGAINST LOWELL

The state board of health has asked the attorney general to proceed against the cities of Lowell and Gloucester for failing to comply with the law relative to the establishment of hospitals for contagious diseases.

In a letter sent to the attorney general the board says: "The cities of Lowell and Gloucester have been requested by the state board of health to establish and maintain hospitals for the reception of persons suffering from diseases dangerous to the public health, as defined by the state board of health, and have thus far failed to comply with the law as passed in 1911 and amended in chapter 241 of the acts of 1912. The dates of such requests made to the city of Lowell are, Dec. 9, 1911, and Dec. 9, 1912.

"The board of health therefore respectfully calls the attention of the attorney general to the facts above stated, with the recommendation that such action be taken as may bring about the establishment in these cities of such hospitals."

SAVED BY PRIEST

Young Man Attempted Suicide by Jumping Into Charles River

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Through the daring of the Rev. Charles F. Donahue, a Catholic priest, the life of Arthur Leary of Cambridge was saved late yesterday when the young man plunged into the Charles river from the Harvard bridge in a fit of despondency and was rescued in an unconscious condition by the clergyman.

While scores of persons stood open-mouthed and seemingly rooted to the spot, Fr. Donahue, the fall of the bridge and reached an iron stairway that runs down to a boat landed into a boat and rowed to the spot where Leary had sunk.

As the drowning man's body came to the surface for the second time, Fr. Donahue let go the oars, grasped the man by the hair and at imminent risk of overturning his craft and being drowned, succeeded in pulling Leary into the craft.

In the process of getting the drowning man into the boat Fr. Donahue had relinquished his grasp on the oars, and found himself wet and exhausted, without any means of getting back to the boat from which he had started. The minutes that he devoted to the rescue, however, had been sufficient to stir many of the spectators from their lethargy, and there were a number of willing hands on shore to throw a rope to the priest by which he could be pulled to the boat with his burden.

Leary was carried into the little building on the boat. Fr. Donahue continued to take charge of things and not only rendered vital physical aid in working over the man, but administered to him spiritually as well.

Mrs. Spalane of the cathedral chancel to pass the scene and offered his assistance. Fr. Donahue, however, was one of the silent ones, and gave orders to summon an ambulance when Leary showed no signs of returning consciousness.

When the ambulance arrived, the priest himself aided in putting Leary's semi-conscious form into the vehicle, and then climbed in after him as the ambulance started for the Cambridge Hotel hospital. No did his solicitude stop there, for he rendered all possible assistance after he had reached the institution with the would-be suicide.

Leary gradually recovered sufficiently to tell that he was 21 years old, single, and had been living at 64 Rice street, North Cambridge. He recently lost his job as a stenographer and had been despondent ever since. Fr. Donahue formerly was pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart at Haverhill, where he came into public notice by announcing that the parish house was infested with ghosts by leaving the house and eventually the parish.

EVADES ROGERS' REQUEST

CHAIRMAN HILLES SIDESTEPS LOWELL CONGRESSMAN'S MOVE FOR OPEN HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Further steps to assure open hearings by the republican national committee of plans for reorganization of the management of that party were instituted yesterday by Representative Rogers, on receipt of a letter from Chairman Charles D. Milles, sidestepping for the second time Mr. Rogers' request for such hearings.

On the return of Senator Coe L. Crawford, the reconciliation committee of the National party, of which Mr. Rogers is a member, will hold a meeting and take up the question of hearings before the national committee. The other members of the committee are Senator A. B. Cummins and Senator Wesley L. Jones, Representatives Cramton and Sydney Anderson, and Ex-Gov. Herbert L. Hadley of Missouri.

The national committee is scheduled to meet in Washington, Dec. 16. Opposition yesterday was expressed by Mr. Rogers to President Wilson's plan for national conventions in the future, to be composed of the candidates for the presidency, vice-president and members of congress and the members of the national committee.

"While these men nominally would be the representatives of the people," said Mr. Rogers, "it is inevitable that in such a gathering there must be an appreciable proportion who will be moved by selfish interests, and who will look rather to their own election than to the framing of a platform beneficial to the people and to their party as a whole. In brief, such a convention might become an office-holding oligarchy."

"The people should frame their platform through their delegates, in convention, and not leave them in the hands of a few men seeking election to office."

NO FRENCH CABINET YET

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The French ministerial crisis brought about by the resignation of Premier Barthou after his defeat in the chamber of deputies on the question of the finance bill, was still unsolved this morning. Jean Dupuy, after consulting his political friends, informed President Poincaré that he must decline the task of forming a cabinet.

REPORT REBEL UPRIISINGS

45.5 INCHES OF SNOW

RESIDENTS OF DENVER OBLIGED TO DIG WAY THROUGH DRIFTS—TRAFFIC STILL HELD UP

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 6.—Cloudless skies greeted residents of Denver and suburbs today as they resumed the task of digging their way through 45.5 inches of snow. The first efforts were to restore street car service and resume the delivery of coal and food supplies.

Railroad traffic still was badly tied up, only one train from the outside having reached the Union station. No others were expected to be moved, either coming or going until after noon.

Although several persons were reported missing, no information of actual loss of life had been received at police headquarters.

SEARCH FOR DESPERADO

SHERIFFS AND DEPUTIES STILL CONFIDENT OF FINDING BODY OF RALPH LOPEZ

BINGHAM, Utah, Dec. 6.—Still hopeful that the body of Ralph Lopez, slain in the Utah-Apex mine, the sheriff and his deputies resumed their search today. Drifts, raises and inclines in the 26 miles of underground workings were penetrated but as the day advanced no word reached the waiting crowds at the tunnel mouth to dislodge their belief that the desperado had escaped.

The poisonous gases driven into the mine from Monday until Thursday night were cleared from the workings with the exception of a few blind spots where the deadly black-damp generated by burning wet gunpowder still hung. However, it was thought that by late today the searchers would be able to penetrate every part of the mine.

THREE MEN DROWNED

BY THE BURSTING OF A WATER MAIN IN TRENCH AT CINCINNATI, OHIO, TODAY

CINCINNATI, Dec. 6.—One white and two negro laborers were drowned by the bursting of a sixty inch water main at the bottom of a trench 21 feet deep at the Rockwood avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad near Eastern avenue here today. STEAMER WAS BEACHED

AT SAN DOMINGO TO KEEP HER FROM SINKING AFTER SPRINGING LEAK—CREW SAFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The steamer Seminole of the Clyde line has been beached at Puerto Plata, San Domingo, to keep her from sinking after she sprang a leak. This news reached the office of the Clyde line here this afternoon in a message from their agents in Hayti. The Seminole's cargo is being removed and it is understood that the crew and passengers are safe.

The Maritime exchange posted a notice that the "Seminole" was a "total loss," but this was denied by the officers of the Clyde line. Two messages were received, it was said, the first to the effect that the steamer had sprung a leak and was entering the port of Puerto Plata, the second that she had been beached and her cargo was being removed.

The message said that the ship had encountered no hurricanes and little rough weather and the officers of the line were unable to explain the cause of the leak.

The Seminole carried four passengers. She sailed from New York last Saturday. Her first port was Turks Island. From there she was bound for ports in Hayti.

Cartridges and revolvers, supposed to be intended for sale to the would-be revolutionists in San Domingo, were found hidden on the Seminole shortly before she sailed. They were confiscated.

CONTROL OF WATER LINES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The interstate commerce commission is about to notify railroads that applications for an extension of time beyond July 1, 1914, in which to divest themselves of ownership control of water lines must be made to the commission not later than March 1, 1914. The Panama canal act prohibited ownership or interest by a railroad in any competing water carrier. Such competition is a question of fact which may be determined by the commission and in certain circumstances it may grant an extension of time beyond July 1 for development of facts.

DISSOLUTION SUIT

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The answer of the Quaker Oats Co. to the dissolution suit brought against it by the government as a trust was filed in the United States court here. It is in substance a denial that the Quaker Oats Co. or any of its agents ever conspired to monopolize the oatmeal market. The answer of the Great Western Cereal Co., which includes the defendants not named in the Quaker Oats papers also was to be filed today.

The government suit particularly was directed against the acquisition of the Great Western Co. by the Quaker Oats Co. The Great Western denies that it conspired with the Quaker Oats Co. to restrain trade in oatmeal or its byproducts.

EXODUS OF ITALIANS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 6.—The annual exodus of Italians from the Pittsburgh district began early today with the departure of one emigrant train for New York. Others will follow within the next two weeks until steamship and railroad agents estimate fully 50,000 Italian laborers have departed for their homes. These men are employed in out-door work and with the winter suspension of activity, they return to Italy for the Christmas holidays. Many of them will be back with the coming spring.

MARCH OUT OF ZABERN

99TH INFANTRY REGT., WHOSE OFFICERS CAUSED STRIFE IN ALSACE, GERMANY, RETREAT

ZABERN, Germany, Dec. 6.—Headed by its energetic commander, Colonel Van Rueter, the 99th infantry regiment, whose officers have caused so much strife between the military and civil authorities in Alsace, marched out of Zabern today on the way to uncomfortable camp quarters, half of the men going to Haguenau, 16 miles to the northeast of Strassburg in the forest and the other half to Illsch, a small fortified town at the foot of the Vosges mountains in the north of Alsace.

Not even the customary detachment was left in charge of the barracks and army property, a guard being detailed for this service from the garrison of Strassburg.

Military patrols which had been a feature of town life since the disorders began, disappeared with the departure of the regiment.

The viceroy of Alsace-Lorraine, Count Charles Von Wedel, returned today from his conference with the emperor and the Alsatian papers gladly interpret the fact that he has not retired from office as an indication that he received from the emperor the necessary guarantees of non-interference with the military with civil rule in Alsace-Lorraine.

BRYAN, Texas, Dec. 6.—Thousands of head of cattle have perished in the flood about here. The greater part of this loss falls upon small farmers. The losses in glined cotton have been heavy. In lots of 50 to 500 bales, it has been swept away by floods at many points.

WOULD LIKE REAL CASH

"Fresno" Dan, Russell Heir, is Tired of Being Rich in Newspapers—Lowell Bank in Case

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Fresno Dan, the heir to the Russell fortune, although still claiming he is to get $150,000 by the will of William C. Russell, says he is sick of being rich in the newspapers, and would now like to see some real cash.

Since he came to Melrose after the death of William Russell, the man who accepted him as his brother, he has seen but $75, he says, and this was given him by Ferdinand B. Almy, his cousin and executor of the will.

"I am certainly wealthy in the newspapers," said Fresno Dan last night, "but what I'd like to see is the cash. I suppose things will brighten up, though, within a few days. It seems kind of hard to live in poverty when a man is entitled to live in comfort."

Complicated Will

The man from Fresno finds it hard to understand the will of William C. Russell. It is still complex to him, and the one thing that seems to bother him is just why $25,000 was left in trust. He has visions of this money being wrongly hoarded and entirely lost, so that there will be no income from it.

Just how he is going to get the fortune left him is perplexing to Fresno Dan. "I suppose," he says, "that the property will have to be sold and turned into cash. William only left about $10,000 in cash, and if the others named in the will are to get their money, the property will have to be sold."

"The lawyers tell me that I am a man of property now. What I want is the cash. I got $75 when I came this time—more than I ever got before. You know I learned to live economically and this will do me quite a while yet. I've got quite a lot of it left."

"The lawyers got their money when the case went along."

When asked if he had ever shared away his rights to any of his share in the fortune the Californian answered: "I don't think I ever did. I'm quite sure I didn't. The only thing I signed was something in regard to a mortgage on the building on Tremont street, Boston."

Lowell Bank Took Mortgage

"They tried to get a mortgage on the building and although it is worth about $300,000, they had a hard job doing it. The Old Colony Trust Company refused to take a mortgage, but later the Lowell Institute of Savings took one for $150,000. I signed because they didn't want to let any deal with Daniel Blake Russell. They wanted everything done by William C. Russell. I understood it was but temporary anyway."

"These lawyers, you know, are mighty tricky, but I'm quite sure I never signed away my rights to the property."

The contract that Fresno made with Senator George Cartwright of California, who came here from the west with Fresno, is another point which may cause trouble when the property is distributed. Senator Cartwright was to get, according to the contract, one-sixth of Fresno's share in case he inherited without litigation; and one-third in case there was litigation.

Fresno was accepted and there was no litigation and William Olin, attorney for Fresno Dan, also attorney for Senator Cartwright, says that the matter will be easily settled. Senator Cartwright, he says, will receive what the contract calls for.

"The Russell heir, however, doesn't like this plan. He feels that if there is any money to be given to Senator Cartwright it should come out of the whole estate and not from his share. 'I've been thinking a lot about this contract with Cartwright today,' he said last night, 'but I thought that the contract was off. Mr. Cartwright when here three years ago, said something about calling it off. This was when he left here. When he came here he was to get one-sixth if there was no litigation, and when there wasn't any there was something said about one-tenth. It was so easy he didn't want to take a big pile."

"DANOTA DAN" TO CONTEST THE WILL OF WILLIAM C. RUSSELL

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—With the announcement by Judge Sheldon of the supreme court yesterday that the finding of Master Gilbert A. Pevey in the famous Russell identity case would be reviewed by the supreme court Dec. 16, came the statement by Atty. William B. Scharton for Dakota Dan, the rejected claimant, that the will would be contested.

The assignment of a hearing on the master's finding before the supreme court came after a motion of Atty. Robert Nason for the estate that the finding of the master be confirmed. Atty. Scharton protested, arguing that certain motions of his should be heard first, and charging that the finding was unconstitutional.

Following the court procedure Atty. Scharton declared that the filing of the will by no means ended matters.

"Read it over," he said. "Doesn't it sound foolish to you that a man should leave $125,000 to a man and then propose that he should only be allowed $3 or $10 for his support? Why, a man could hardly subsist on that."

In an interview with press representatives Atty. Scharton attacked "Fresno Dan," scoring his illiteracy and general characteristics, saying that no member of the Russell family would ever be guilty of calling the women of Melrose or any other place "old hens."

MISSION OPENED AT SACRED HEART CHURCH WEDNESDAY WILL END TOMORROW NIGHT

The men's retreat at the Sacred Heart church which opened on Wednesday will be brought to a close tomorrow evening. The final services will be held at 6.30 o'clock and will consist of recitation of the rosary, blessing of religious articles, sermon, papal benediction, reception into the Holy Name society, congregational singing, and ending with solemn benediction. The blessed sacrament, during which special music will be rendered by the choir, under the direction of John J. Kelly.

At last evening's services Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. L., who has charge of the retreat, preached an instructive sermon on "Faith." During his discourse he urged his hearers to be faithful to their duties, not only when a mission or retreat is being conducted, but at all times. He congratulated the men on their large numbers, and impressed upon all the necessity of attending the final services tomorrow night. By participation in the closing services all will receive the special jubilee indulgence, authorized by the pope.

KNABE MURDER

Office Girl of Murdered Woman Testifies at Trial

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Dec. 6.—Miss Katherine McPherson, office girl for Dr. Helene Knabe, for whose murder Dr. William B. Craig now is on trial here, late yesterday was put on the witness stand by the state. The witness described the finding of Dr. Knabe's body, the condition of the flat and her employer's habits.

Miss McPherson testified that she had seen Dr. Craig in Dr. Knabe's apartments twice and had seen the former bring her employer to his automobile to the house several times. She also identified a photograph of Dr. Craig and his daughter Marion, as one which Marion had given to Dr. Knabe.

The witness said that when she entered the room in which Dr. Knabe had met death, the window curtain was raised about one foot from the bottom of the window. The state insisted upon this testimony. It was said, on the theory that when Joseph Carr, a previous witness, passed the house, Dr. Knabe was being murdered.

Carr on cross-examination declared that when he passed the apartment house in which Dr. Knabe lived, he heard screams, but declared there was no light to be seen in any of the rooms.

The state contends that the murderer had pulled down the curtain and was cutting Dr. Knabe's throat when Carr passed. Later, it is contended, the slayer returned to the flat, raised the curtain and turned on the electric lights.

Dr. Knabe's kimono, which the state attempted to get before the jury, and which was found in possession of an Indianapolis undertaker, was shown to Miss McPherson. She testified that the last time she had seen the garment was on the Saturday before Dr. Knabe's death, when it was hanging in a closet of a room where the doctor met death.

"Then it was a pretty navy blue, with poppy flowers," the witness exclaimed, "and now it looks like a faded rag."

The state contends that the garment was washed with chemicals to take out blood stains, after it had been carried away from Dr. Knabe's office.

During her examination, Miss McPherson was extremely nervous, and once the trial was halted until the witness could be given a glass of water.

When the witness was turned over to the defense she was excused after a few moments.

Arnold Moore, one of the state's principal witnesses, failed to identify as Dr. Craig the man Moore said he saw peeping into the woman physician's bedroom at night.

CAMPERS HELD DANCE

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR CONDUCTED IN ASSOCIATE HALL LAST NIGHT BY MUSKETAGUID CANOE CLUB

The Musketaguid Canoe club, comprised of a group of young men who spent the summer months on the shores of the Concord river, held its fourth annual dancing party in Associate hall last night. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with the club colors and banners outlining the gallery and stage. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 until 12 to music furnished by Broderick's Novelty orchestra, and although the order contained but 20 numbers it was necessary for the orchestra to respond with encores at intervals throughout the evening.

The officers of the evening were: assistant general manager, George A. Kirwin; assistant general manager, Nelson Depecher; door director, Walter Brown; chief aid, Timothy H. Lynch; aids, James Broderick, Harry Healen, Fred McGuire, Joseph McGinnis, Harry Finnegan, Albert Carney, Timothy Olson, John Healey, Thomas Fitzgerald, John Duggan, James Cusick and John Shanley.

RETREAT FOR WOMEN

WILL CLOSE AT THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH TOMORROW EVENING AT 6.30 O'CLOCK

The retreat which has been conducted during the past week for the women of the Immaculate Conception parish will come to a close on Sunday evening at 6.30 o'clock by a special service, at which Fr. Donnelly, O. M. L., D. D., will preach. The affair will be unusually solemn and will be followed by a procession of the Children of Mary, Junior and senior branches, Immaculate Conception sodality and the other church societies.

It is expected that the church will be crowded to its capacity Sunday evening, for during the week there have been very large congregations, and the number of communicants at the 5.15, 6.30 and 8 o'clock masses was unusual, even for the Immaculate Conception church where retreats are attended with phenomenal success. Rev. Fr. Donnelly has made a deep impression by his scholarly and beautifully delivered sermons, and the people of the parish hope that at some future time they will again have the pleasure of attending a retreat at which he will be the principal preacher. He will speak at the 11 o'clock mass on Sunday as well as at the evening services.

MEN'S RETREAT TO CLOSE

MISSION OPENED AT SACRED HEART CHURCH WEDNESDAY WILL END TOMORROW NIGHT

The men's retreat at the Sacred Heart church which opened on Wednesday will be brought to a close tomorrow evening. The final services will be held at 6.30 o'clock and will consist of recitation of the rosary, blessing of religious articles, sermon, papal benediction, reception into the Holy Name society, congregational singing, and ending with solemn benediction. The blessed sacrament, during which special music will be rendered by the choir, under the direction of John J. Kelly.

At last evening's services Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. L., who has charge of the retreat, preached an instructive sermon on "Faith." During his discourse he urged his hearers to be faithful to their duties, not only when a mission or retreat is being conducted, but at all times. He congratulated the men on their large numbers, and impressed upon all the necessity of attending the final services tomorrow night. By participation in the closing services all will receive the special jubilee indulgence, authorized by the pope.

RETREAT FOR WOMEN

WILL CLOSE AT THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH TOMORROW EVENING AT 6.30 O'CLOCK

The retreat which has been conducted during the past week for the women of the Immaculate Conception parish will come to a close on Sunday evening at 6.30 o'clock by a special service, at which Fr. Donnelly, O. M. L., D. D., will preach. The affair will be unusually solemn and will be followed by a procession of the Children of Mary, Junior and senior branches, Immaculate Conception sodality and the other church societies.

It is expected that the church will be crowded to its capacity Sunday evening, for during the week there have been very large congregations, and the number of communicants at the 5.15, 6.30 and 8 o'clock masses was unusual, even for the Immaculate Conception church where retreats are attended with phenomenal success. Rev. Fr. Donnelly has made a deep impression by his scholarly and beautifully delivered sermons, and the people of the parish hope that at some future time they will again have the pleasure of attending a retreat at which he will be the principal preacher. He will speak at the 11 o'clock mass on Sunday as well as at the evening services.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

LOWELL'S FINANCIAL STANDING

The municipal campaign is now practically ended, and the financial issue will stand as one of the greatest importance in swaying the minds of reasonable people who believe in a clean and progressive administration. It has been shown that the amount borrowed for current expenses this year was not abnormal considering the exigencies of the situation and otherwise that had to be met. On the other hand the amount borrowed for permanent improvements was larger than usual but few, if any, will say that the money was not spent as well as any outlay for similar purposes in the past.

Yet in spite of this there is a great howl that the city is heavily burdened with debt, that the debt limit has been exceeded and that we are on the verge of bankruptcy, all of which is sheer nonsense.

The absurdity about the debt limit brought out a statement from the city auditor showing that in spite of all that has been said to the contrary the distance from the debt limit is about $247,000, which is not such a bad showing.

Before the primaries we presented figures showing that in the amount of indebtedness eight other cities led Lowell, while in population only three exceeded her, Boston, Worcester and Fall River. We showed that the per capita debt of Lowell is insignificant compared to that of some other cities but certain wisacres objected that we should have computed the comparative debt-standing on the percentage of debt to the valuation in each of the cities considered. Taking the last statement sent out in 1911 by Chief Gettemy on municipal finances for the cities of the state, the following calculation is given and we do not believe that any great change has taken place since so far as the relative position of Lowell is concerned:

Cities	Population	Net debt of percentage of valuation
1 Cambridge	104,830	1.77
2 Gloucester	12,398	2.23
3 Rochester	16,878	6.58
4 Taunton	24,350	6.47
5 Quincy	22,612	6.44
6 Chelsea	22,452	6.15
7 Newburyport	14,949	6.15
8 Pittsfield	22,121	5.51
9 New Bedford	96,652	5.51
10 Newton	39,806	5.67
11 North Adams	26,013	5.62
12 Boston	670,555	5.36
13 Marlborough	11,579	5.28
14 Haverhill	14,115	5.61
15 Holyoke	27,730	4.35
16 Fitchburg	37,332	4.91
17 Everett	33,344	4.83
18 Lynn	56,335	4.63
19 Fall River	112,235	4.56
20 Chicopee	25,791	4.55
21 Beverly	15,659	4.16
22 Worcester	115,556	4.61
23 Malden	44,434	3.57
24 Lawrence	58,532	3.91
25 Salem	22,087	3.42
26 Woburn	15,385	3.42
27 Lowell	106,231	3.53

This table bears out the statement already made that Lowell does not carry an abnormal debt as compared with the other leading cities of the state, taken either on the comparison of debt to population or to valuation. The average percentage of debt to valuation for all the cities of the state as computed by Mr. Gettemy in the table here quoted is 5.55, while the percentage for Lowell is 3.53.

The fact is that Lowell, her standing and resources have been so belittled by campaign liars that the citizens who give any credence to the charges must feel that it is something in the nature of a misfortune to live in Lowell. These defamers of our city claim to be its defenders but they are in reality its worst enemies.

We can say to the credit of Mayor O'Donnell that he has always upheld the dignity, the honor and the good name of the city of which he is the chief executive and in the face of the many difficulties incident to the application of a new form of government, he has made such a good showing that in order to give the city the benefit of his valuable experience, his business tact and judgment and to carry out the various lines of public improvement already outlined, he should be re-elected. This is a matter upon which the voters should exercise their best judgment and not be misled by any unmanly charges ingeniously devised to impose upon their intelligence.

WORK BENEFICIAL TO ALL

For the one individual who becomes a nervous wreck or seeks a haven in a sanatorium because of overwork, there are several who become physical and mental ruins through inactivity. Some of the wealthiest men in the history of the country were fully cognizant of this fact and arranged their domestic matters so that their heirs could not become indolent sloths whose greatest sin in life would be the passive surrender of the fortune and industry accumulated. Nevertheless the papers are full of evidences of defective mentality and degeneracy which are the direct result of a mind made morbid and a body made unwhitely from mental and physical inactivity.

If many of the inmates of our institutions for the insane and feeble minded are those because of empty lives there is a powerful stimulus in some of the most modern methods of treating them. It is now being acknowledged by experts in mental diseases that one of the best means to effect partial or total cures is to give the afflicted something to do. At the state hospital in Tewksbury at the present time is an exhibition of arts and crafts in which are displayed specimens of the work of the inmates of all the state institutions for the insane, and it would compare very favorably with the choice work of those who are in full possession of their mental faculties. The state institutions maintain workshops for their patients, but most of the work about the grounds and farms is also done by them. At the famous McLean hospital in Waverly, where the inmates are given the most modern and scientific treatment, a workshop is maintained with splendid results.

It is not alone the mentally handicapped who are now being taught to apply themselves to work, but all manner of invalids and cripples. Our schools for the blind are doing wonders and of the training for the deaf and dumb we recently saw the most wonderful embodiment in the world-renowned Helen Keller. A new era has dawned on the world of medicine and many old theories are being exploded. When we see such splendid results from the industrial experiments now being conducted with regard to invalids, we may hope for very important developments.

DEMOCRATS GETTING TOGETHER

Quite a little partisan gush is being voted in some quarters owing to a dinner recently given by Gov-elect Walsh to about 100 leading democrats of the state, mostly those who will have a voice in legislative matters at the next session. Some vehemently protesting individuals profess to believe that Mr. Walsh looks upon himself merely as the governor of the democrats of the state. Nothing could be farther from the truth. But, in all his official acts Mr. Walsh will be judged as a democrat, and he will be measured against the ideal he announced in his advocacy of the democratic platform before election. It is eminently fitting, therefore, that he organize his forces so as to facilitate the introduction of the reforms to which he and his party are pledged. In politics as in business generally nothing can be achieved unless there is a recognized head and the president or governor who would do the most effective work will not neglect the practical preparations for efficient organization that are not only lawful but desirable. In getting his party into working order Mr. Walsh follows the example of President Wilson, whose achievement as a leader of men is one of the greatest political wonders of the age.

GOOD ROADS LEGISLATION

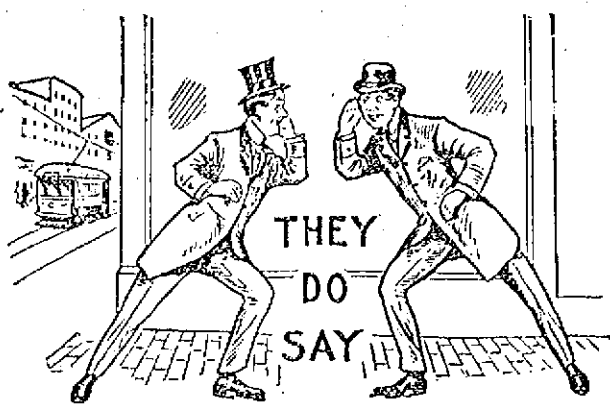

Those who agitate good roads throughout the country will find much encouragement in sectional agitations favoring them everywhere, and in universal state legislation to the same end. Under a recent act which the supreme court of Ohio has declared constitutional that state proposes to construct 3,000 miles of modern highway connecting all its cities and large towns with modern roadways. About $5,000,000 will be expended yearly for this object, the bulk of which is to be distributed among the counties and the balance to be used by the state highway commission. Each county will receive about $30,000 annually with the condition that it raise a similar amount for the same object. The state fund is provided by means of a special tax on property and out of the fees for automobile licenses. The plan is receiving general endorsement in all parts of the state.

This scheme has the two features most commonly favored by those who favor good road legislation. It provides for a distribution of the financial burden between the state and county, and an equal taxation, comparatively, of all the citizens in securing the necessary funds. Meantime the application for federal aid in road building is going on. Two bills recently introduced in congress have this object, though they would leave the control of the roads still in the hands of the state under federal supervision. Improved highway systems are being adopted throughout Massachusetts, New Hampshire and elsewhere, and a spirit has been awakened in this direction which promises to wipe out our ancient reproach of primitive and unscientific roads in all parts of the nation before it subsides.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt, if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated— just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, to gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

THE SPELLBINDER

Suppose a stranger coming to our city had read the fake accounts of crime committed in our city, the alleged negligence of the police to enforce the law, the prevalence of gambling and the impunity of certain hotels in Lowell he would naturally conclude that it would be dangerous to stop overnight in any local hostelry and that no man suspected of having a dollar in his pocket could walk our streets in safety. But if this stranger sets out to investigate, he finds nothing to substantiate these charges. No murders, no manslaughter, no dangerous assaults and no offences of any kind beyond the happenings that occasionally occur in the most poverty stricken cities despite the greatest vigilance of the police. He could visit our hotels and find them quite as orderly and respectable as those of any similar city; he could look for disorderly dives and he would find this city freer from them perhaps than any other city in Massachusetts.

How then, he would be led to ask, are these alarming stories put in circulation? The only answer is, that we have a candidate running for mayor on the Brown plan of campaign under which the chief thing is to make charges of vice, immorality and corruption that will scare quiet God fearing people out of their wits. There are people at this hour so alarmed by the stories of crime circulated and largely manufactured in this campaign, that they will not enjoy a sound night's rest until after the election on next Tuesday unless somebody tells them the truth about the charges.

Fake Wave of Crime

There is a sample: A young sailor said to be on furlough, came to Lowell and reported the loss of $165 while intoxicated. Part of the Murphy campaign consists in making it appear that the local hotels are mainly houses of ill repute and hence they are accused of robbing the sailor thus:

"After showing his roll in bar-rooms, men on the lookout for just such easy money, took the young sailor in tow, and showed him where he could get a good time. It is alleged that they took him to a 'hotel' where there were girls who are also in the business of making 'soft money.' The good time cost the sailor all of his bank roll, for when he found himself alone on the street, a reeling drunk, he was penniless and friendless."

The young man, it is alleged, met the Rev. Mr. King, and while intoxicated told him a tall story of losing his money. The police went out on the story and Inspector Walsh recognized in this youth the same sailor who was in Lowell a year ago, who told a similar story of losing money, won the sympathy of a militia officer who as a result put him up for the night. In the morning the sailor went off with a $15 dollar revolver and the police have been looking for him ever since.

The belief is, that he lost no money but told the story as he did a year ago to win sympathy. As the militia officer did not care to proceed against him, the police gave him fifteen minutes to get out of town as he was not only a drunkard but a confidence man and a thief. Such is the material from which the "wave of crime" is evolved. This is a sample of the stuff manufactured to blacken the police department and boost the candidacy of Mr. Murphy for mayor.

The Police Department
There has been a great deal of talk about an alleged rupture between Mayor O'Donnell and Supt. Welch of the police department. It was even alleged that the mayor restricted the superintendent's freedom in the enforcement of the law and that as a result certain violations of the law have been overlooked by the police. Mayor O'Donnell denied this and gave out a number of questions which he wished the public to ask Supt. Welch. This gentleman refused to answer them presumably because his silence would help the mayor's opponent, but he gave as his reason that he did not wish to be drawn into the controversy.

It should be understood that Supt. Welch felt keenly disappointed that Mayor O'Donnell did not recommend him for an increase of $500 in his salary when giving the patrolman an increase. But the patrolman had received no increase for nearly thirty years and they were entitled to all that good, while the superintendent was not so badly off with a salary of $2900. It should be remembered that Mayor O'Donnell did not have the power to increase the pay of the superintendent but he did have the power voluntarily to increase the pay of the men and he did so. The superintendent is elected and his salary fixed by vote of the municipal council.

Matter For Municipal Council

Moreover, some people seem to forget that under the new charter the mayor is the responsible head of the department although he did not make a habit of making himself officious about the station. Indeed some people say that if he had asserted his authority a little more the superintendent would not now remain silent while the department is being assailed for political effect.

Mr. Murphy's Single Term

You have all read Mr. Murphy's announcement that if elected he would not be a candidate for re-election, because he believes it to be the object of the charter to do away with the re-election of mayors, because he will not have to work for a re-election, and because he can thus go into office free of all personal obligations and remain so during his entire term.

Now these are very lofty motives and calculated to inspire the confidence of the unwary who could not see the ulterior motive lurking in the background.

What is that motive? Well, the politicians who know the ropes assert that in spite of all Mr. Murphy's because he did not tell the voters the real reason why after the primaries he announced that if elected he would not seek a re-election, or in other words that he would get out of the way of the French candidate for mayor.

It will be remembered that Mr. Murphy did not say anything about a single term until after the primaries. Then the French-American citizens found that Dr. Mignault was beaten by a small margin and his very defeat made them more determined than ever to have their candidate for mayor elected on the first opportunity. They then reasoned that it would serve their purpose better to have O'Donnell re-elected as he would get out of the way at the end of his two years, whereas if Mr. Murphy were elected he would have a call for a second term and thus the French-American candidate would have to engage in another conflict very much similar to that in which Dr. Mignault was defeated. With such a prospect the opposition to Mr. Murphy among the French would be quite general; but just as soon as the attitude of the French-Americans became known, Mr. Murphy suddenly discovered a great many objections to a second term and his announcement to this effect quickly followed. While his action in this matter suggests Aesop's fable of the sour grapes, the lawyers would designate it by a more expressive term. This offers a key to Mr. Murphy's methods in appealing to the public for election as mayor. It may be stated in passing that the charter offers no objection whatever to a mayoralty candidate seeking re-election, but on the contrary, its aim being to attain the best, it would place the man of experience ahead of the one who shows ability chiefly as a political mauling.

Under the city charter of Lowell a mayor may be re-elected for an unlimited number of times or just as often as the people want him. It is absurd to say that either in spirit or in letter the charter imposes any restriction whatever. I understand that Mayor O'Donnell, if re-elected, will not again be a candidate, so that there will be a clear field for new aspirants.

Agent Cummock's Advice

At this time when the muckrakers are working overtime I would like to commend to the voters of Lowell the words of Agent A. G. Cummock in a speech at the Textile school on the occasion of the visit of the bankers to Lowell. Mr. Cummock said:

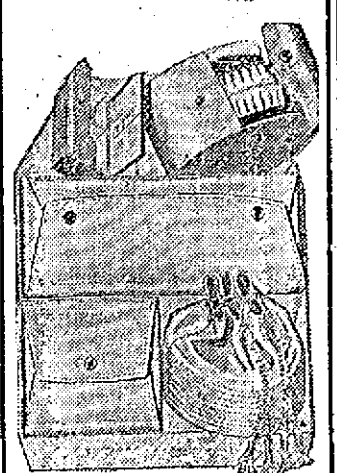

"There are too many muckrakers in Lowell. There are men in our midst who are pleased to say discouraging things about our people and our city. This practice of giving our city a black eye on every conceivable occasion ought to be stopped. Instead of throwing stones at our mayor and commissioners we should say that they are good men and that they are doing good work. Instead of throwing stones at them we should give them our undivided support."

The Contagious Hospital

I notice the state board of health of which Mr. Mills of the Locks and Canals company is a member, has taken steps to force certain cities including Lowell to build contagious hospitals for the reception of patients with the requirements of the law, but the hospital proposition that has been under consideration is one that would provide not only for the ordinary contagious diseases but also for tuberculosis. The hospital is a public necessity and it will be built next year at the latest. Meantime we can

It appears that the municipal council will have to go outside the city limits for a site that will not stir up serious opposition. TO THE VOTERS OF LOWELL

The last legislature passed a bill enabling cities which may accept the law to promote call firemen to the permanent force without taking a civil service examination, provided they have served five years as call men and can pass a physical examination. It is earnestly urged that the people of Lowell give this matter serious consideration and vote to accept the act.

Under the present arrangement, a call man really has to pass the civil service examination twice in order to be made a permanent fireman. He has to take one examination in order to become a call man in the first place, and a second examination in order to be a permanent man. Under the proposed law, a man who has for five years served as a call man may be appointed a permanent man without more examinations, if he is duly certified to be physically fit by the city physician or other physician designated to examine him.

Nothing in the act will prevent a man's taking the civil service examinations for positions of permanent fireman. It simply makes five years of actual service as a call man equivalent to a civil service examination for those who have demonstrated their efficiency as firemen during that period.

This law will come up for acceptance or rejection at the city election next Tuesday. The call men of the Lowell fire department bespeak your favorable vote on accepting this bill.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

The bowling game may not seem so popular now as it was in the days of its revival in Lowell several years ago. It is an established sport now, just as much as any indoor game. There is more bowling done now than of old. Instead of but two public alleys then we now have six or seven, all pretty well patronized. So to its popularity I guess it hasn't lost any. Every year brings to the fore new devotees of the game.

In recalling the prominent bowlers who started locally some 15 to 25 years ago, we must confine ourselves chiefly to the big-pin game, but while looking over the crackerjacks of the present day we must deal almost altogether with the duck or candle pin game.

Jim McLaughlin

The first name which springs to our lips among the old-time bowlers of Lowell is that of Jim McLaughlin, the grand old man of the game. Even before Paige's alleys were installed James had been a bowler well back when there were alleys on Dutton street, and elsewhere, when the game had not become modernized. The alleys were not so finely built, while the balls had no finger-holes in them, then, as a bowler of the present day. Civil war was for years a Lowell police officer. Yet bowling was his first love and it looks now as though it would be his only and his last love, although he doesn't very often bowl now. He loves baseball, too, and if you have been a frequent attendant at a sparkling park you could usually discover him sitting on the farther corner seat on the third base bleachers. Jim was a "Miserable" and an active member of the team which was one of the best bowling organizations in the state. He afterwards conducted the alleys. There were no doubt several bowlers whose averages or whose individual single games or game records were superior to Jim's, but for evenness of work, style, clean year in and year out bowling, his record stands out over all. Bear in mind that Jim was a veteran, while his associates were nearly all "young fellows."

Bear in mind that Jim was a veteran, while his associates were nearly all "young fellows."

Think all agree with me in feeling that the "big pin" game is the best bowling game and none question the fitness of this special reference to the man and what he has done for the game. In the Hall of Fame occupied by the illustrious knockers of the big pins there is Charlie Marren, a former bowler of consummate grace and ability. Henry Farrell's name is also in the hall. John B. Smith and Johnny Seedorf, both deceased, are in the hall, and these five complete the star Les Miserables team: Corwin, Doc Harris, Charlie Goulding, the Whittiers, Jim Thorpe, Hood and Fred Grover represented the Vesper club and these men were good ones, particularly Goulding and Grover, who later at a later period bowling with the B. A. A's.

Some Old Timers

Not all of the names which follow are eligible to the Hall of Fame by my means. You might pick out a few of special bowling eminence, qualifying them for a humble niche there. And then you might find in it a lot of names which appear as the Man in the Moon recalls them, simply because of their prominence upon the Les Miserables alleys when bowling made history and some men became renowned. They made up a good, wholesome, democratic representation of men in all parts of the town and of almost every calling. Lawyers, clergymen, doctors, bank men, railroad men, business men, newspaper men, shop men, clerks, mill men, operatives and even agriculturists, all gathered here, and the man who rolled highest was the hero of the day. Some of the men whose names appear here were on the long journey from whence they will not return; many have left Lowell and perhaps they, too, will never return; most of them are here among us, older grown, yet full of the spirit and zest of former days; a few of them occasionally visit an alley and bowl a string or two for the time sake, and then return to their knitting. Some of the old timers may effect to belittle the small pin game and regard it no better than a game of marbles; but speaking as one who knows both games, they are mistaken in their judgment, I believe.

Here are the men who used to figure more or less on the Les Miserables alleys in the days of old: Charlie Knapp, August Fels, Steve Kirby, Potay Clayton, Ed. Ellingwood, Col. Chadwick, A. K. Chadwick, Win. Sturtevant, Jim Wilson, Bill Campbell, Charlie Clifton, J. B. Currier, Miles Brennan, Billy Courtney, Bert Crosby, Horace Knapp, Mar. Courtney, Phil Farley, Dr. Alford, Dr. Lowe, Shaw Shaw, Dan Donohue, Joe Donohue, Cecil Adams, Geo. Mansur, Will Mansur, Jim Derman, Walter Wright, Arthur Greenwood, Tom Ware, Alex. Abels, Jim Thompson, Geo. Dobson, Charlie Dobson, Billy Patten, Mike Doyle, Charlie Gale, Jim Young, Al Lewis, Bert Locke, Barney Callahan, Ed. Bond, Tom Hoban, Hugh Farley, Israel Sternberg, Al. McCurdy, Tom Boulger, Dr. Walker, Tom Sullivan, Charlie Wilson, Annie Stiles, Tom Murphy, Peter H. Donahue, Fred Worden, Ves Sparks, Charlie Gregory, Jack Carpenter, Chucky Halstead, Bob Fullerton, Dick Mower, Harry Colard, Joe Frelch, Oliver Beauregard, Louis Smith, Al. Smith, Oscar Brown, Fred Wilson, John Anderson, John Sawyer, Tom Golden, Charlie Hartwell, Charlie Bell, Tom Wragg, Ralph Brazier, Bill Dickerman, Marj. Maher, Tom Atkinson, Frank Goodwin, Red Welch, Bill Moffatt, Henry Peabody, Charlie Sheppard, Jim McMahon, Larkin Trull, Ed. G. Gault, Joe Richardson, L. F. Paulin, Dan Pickering, Nick Norcross, Kid Higgins, Joe Purcell, Geo. Howes, Fred Ela, John F. Sawyer, Harry Shaw, Will Cogger, Henry Cuff, Jim Hurley, Dr. Harris, Mike Flynn, Peter Cawley, Andrew Donahue, Eddie Dalgarnut, John Carpenter, Tom Brown, Charlie Burns, Billy Burns, Jack Smith, Fred Osterhout, John Rindard, J. O'Sullivan, John Palm, Bert Cressy, J. T. Sparks, Cy Barton, Morris Brousseau, John Barrows, Frank Cheney, Jim Grant, Nap Loupret and many more, some of whom I can't recall or didn't know. But this list is fairly well for one sitting and is enough to show the kind of men the roll of honor was composed of. While there were many 500 pin average men to be found in this list, there were many more struggling souls hovering around 400 and having the time of their lives to stay there. I will not name the bright, particular stars of this collection, for at this late date it might be unwise. There were some great games then. Somehow, you don't see any such games nowadays. There were many tournaments, resulting in the making and unmaking of reputations. The bowling friends comprised a social fraternity of their own and the past words were sim-give you facts and figures on matters pertaining to bowling, and is generally consulted when technical controversies arise. Bill's gentlemanly qualities, his genial manner, his accommodating spirit and his love for the game made him well liked by all who knew him and popular with the followers of the bowling game. While I cannot characterize him now as the "grand old man" of the game, I would cheerfully accord him that title when my old friend Jim McLaughlin gets through with it. Yet, may that day be far distant.

HONORED BY CARDINAL

CARDINAL O'CONNELL WILL RECEIVE HARVARD STUDENTS AT HIS RESIDENCE TONIGHT

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—One hundred Harvard students who are members of St. Paul's Catholic club at the university, will be received by Cardinal O'Connell at his residence on Bay State road this evening.

The Harvard Catholics are to meet at their club house in Cambridge and go in a body, together with Fr. Ryan, the pastor of St. Paul's church in Cambridge and chaplain of the club on special electric cars. The Harvard Catholics will be the first body of students that Cardinal O'Connell has ever received.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Made From Fruit—Cant Harm Tender Stomach, Liver and Bowels

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

CONVICT WOMEN

Five Who Rode Woman on a Rail Were Found Guilty Last Night

WAKEFELT, Ill., Dec. 6.—Five gray-haired women of the village of Volo, who rode Mrs. John Richardson on a rail one night in July because her name was linked by gossip with that of her brother-in-law, were found guilty here last night by a jury. Each may be fined $200 and sentenced to six months in jail.

The women are Mrs. Emma Etadfield, Mrs. Levia Raymond, Mrs. Alma Watson, Mrs. Mary Sabel and Mrs. John Stedfield. Mrs. Kate Wagner was freed because she left before the victim was given her ride.

Mrs. Sabel's 65 years make her the oldest of the convicted five and the others are well beyond 40. As they sat huddled in the court room last night when the verdict was read, they bore no resemblance to the angry women who drove Mrs. Richardson from her home by a subterfuge, placed her astride a scolding, bore her screaming and fighting to the edge of the town where she was warned never to return.

The jury deliberated an hour, largely on the question of freeing Mrs. Wagner.

KILLED BROTHER

Boy of 6, Playing Indian, Shot Brother of 4 With Mother Near

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 6.—While their mother was sewing in the next room, yesterday afternoon, William, 6 years old, and Lawrence, 4 years old, sons of Michael J. Hawley of Collinsville road, Unctonville, amused themselves playing Indian in the kitchen, according to the best picture book methods.

When Willie commanded his brother to lie down on the kitchen floor in ambush, the posture did not suit him and he ordered him to change to another spot. Then he went to the back entry, secured his father's hunting rifle and shot the little lad through the breast, the bullet coming out through the shoulder blade and penetrating the floor.

"O, mamma, Lollie's a dead Indian now," announced Willie as the frantic mother burst into the room at the sound of the shot.

Though shot through the body, Lawrence walked around a few moments before losing consciousness. A physician was summoned and had the dying boy carried a mile on the way to a Hartford hospital, when he expired.

The boy's body was taken to the medical examiner, who will not order the older boy's arrest.

WIFE'S BISCUITS DID IT

LED TO QUARREL AND WOMAN SUED FOR DIVORCE—JUDGE SIDES WITH WIFE

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Biscuits not cooked to his taste, and meals not ready, constituted the provocations that led Carl Hoffman of Canton, a private secretary to a judge, to sue his wife, Mrs. Sylvia Ella Hoffman, a music teacher in Worcester, who sued for divorce.

Judge Raymond yesterday granted her a decree nisi, $12 a week alimony and the custody of their 3-year-old baby.

All was harmony in the Hoffman household during three years of their married life, till August 9 last, when Hoffman suddenly developed a strong aversion to the results of his wife's cooking biscuits, according to the testimony. Mrs. Hoffman testified yesterday that they were married in Worcester, July 9, 1910, and that harmony of the home was first dispelled August 8 last, when her husband complained about the cooking of biscuits.

The husband and the 2-year-old baby were seated at the dinner table, Mrs. Hoffman said, when she gave the baby a piece of biscuit. The husband munched a sample of the home-cooked biscuit and flew into a rage, loudly declaring that the biscuits were no good. He struck her at this time, she testified, and left the house, not returning till the next day.

While she was preparing supper one day last July, her husband returned home unexpectedly. The meal not being ready at the usual hour, she said, her husband grasped her by the throat and shook her, all the while telling her that he would teach her to have the meals ready for him when he wanted them.

At another time, Mrs. Hoffman testified that while she was lying on a couch in a darkened room trying to sleep, he entered, picked her up and threw her about the room. Many other instances of cruelty to herself and young baby were told the court by Mrs. Hoffman.

$50,000 SUIT SETTLED

ACTION BROUGHT BY MISS BENT AGAINST GEORGE G. PETERS ENDED WITHOUT A TRIAL

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—The suit for $50,000 brought by Miss Etta S. Bent, formerly of Brookline, against George G. Peters, clubman and globe trotter, is said to have been settled out of court.

Frank S. Prince of Beverly, sister of Miss Bent, stated last night that she understood no further proceedings will be taken in the case.

"I feel certain that the matter will go no further," said Mrs. Prince. "My sister is not here at this time, and I cannot speak officially, but I am given to understand that the attachment will be dissolved and the episode closed."

Miss Bent attached real estate and bank accounts of Peters Monday, but whether she nor Peters would disclose what was the cause of the proceedings, Peters is in the lumber business. Miss Bent has her home in Beverly and Plymouth. For ten years she was private secretary to President William A. Barcroft of the Boston Elevated Railway company.

HEARD WEDDING BELLS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 6.—Miss May Hadley, a teacher in the Jenkins street school, slipped off to New York yesterday and was married to J. H. Vernon, Jr., according to a telegram received by her brother, Arthur Hadley, in this city. Her marriage is equivalent to a resignation from the teaching force.

It was learned from New Bedford yesterday afternoon that a young man in that city who has been paying attentions to Miss Hadley until recently and who had a lovers' quarrel with her, received a letter this morning from the young lady telling him of her marriage.

Miss Hadley has been a teacher for about three years. She asked to be off a few days and a substitute was sent to take her place. She gave no intimation that she was to marry.

LADY LOOKABOUT

I wonder if anyone is surprised to learn that Miss Honor John F. Fitzgerald, after a long period of hesitation and reluctance—charming qualities in a politician—has at last consented to be a third time candidate for mayor of Boston? It is with much interest and sympathy that we follow the career of a woman who, with a vigorous and energetic nature, with a strong sense of duty, and with a strong sense of justice, has been a leader in the movement for the reform of the city government.

Her place is in the inner room. Her wisdom does not hurt in this. To mind the silk worm and the loom. Poor benighted creatures! Perhaps, light will come to them with Christianity. In a statement recently made by Yuan Shi Kai, president of the new Chinese republic, he declares that although himself a disciple of Confucius, he believes that the ultimate salvation of China lies in Christianity. This is a very strange statement to be made by the ruler of millions, but it is in line with the movement toward higher ethics which is everywhere the present day tendency.

Race Development
The Carolina of Russia is quoted as having said recently to a retiring French ambassador at her husband's court, referring to her two marriages, "My highest ambition for my daughters is that they may become Christian ladies."

These sentiments are simply expressions of the development of the human race; and although rulers and monarchs may legislate against this movement and that movement, they cannot regulate the development of the race, for it proceeds in spite of, or by the help of legislation.

Objectious Advertising
At the present time when there is so much feeling in regard to the bill for the regulation of advertising, I would like to tell you about a specimen to which my attention was called a few days ago. It adjoints a school house lot in the southern end of the city. There in enormous letters, flaming colors and pictures which would attract and hold the attention of any child in the street, are advertised two articles, the harmfulness of which teachers are required by statute to teach, beer and cigarettes. I feel sure that if some of our aspiring politicians would start a crusade against the objectionable features of this method of advertising, he would lay up a valuable store of political capital for future use. Some notice should be taken of counter forces of this kind, which tend to offset the effect of the good done in the school room. It has been considered necessary to make a law regulating the proximity of a liquor saloon to a school house; surely there must be some way of regulating the proximity of an objectionable bill board to a school house.

Mr. Donnelly Made a Hit
On Tuesday afternoon, the teachers of the Centralville district entertained the teachers of the city, and great credit is due them for the excellent excellence of the program, which has been commented upon by the papers. But I cannot let the occasion pass without expressing the great pleasure given the gathering by the singing of Mrs. Nana Gallagher Leahy and Mrs. James E. Donnelly. Mrs. Leahy sang "The Rosary" as only she can sing it, with such a beautiful song, both words and music, must have been composed for her. The teachers forgot their problems and worries as they listened, and the grateful applause which followed only slightly expressed their pleasure.

Mr. Donnelly then sang, and as usual sang his way into the hearts of his audience. But the kindness of singing those appealing low notes to a gathering of school ma'ams of various and uncertain ages! It was cruelly refined, and the sigh which followed his last selection was expressive of much more than regret over "the ceasing of exquisite music."

The 17th Time
Please, Mr. Spellbinder, let me play in your yard long enough to say this: Mayor Ashley has just been elected mayor of New Bedford for the seventh time. Some of our aspiring politicians should study the record and take a little tip from father.

Smuggling Chinese
I suppose that each of us in his own room or less humble way, is a Sherlock Holmes, and that only a Watson to remove the bush from our line and thereby call attention to its brilliancy. During the past week I was filled with admiration for the clever detective work done by the immigration officials on the part of the Chinese in smuggling Chinese into the United States. Two alleged Japanese passengers attracted the attention of the inspectors by their walk. It is said by many of the students of these matters in the immigration service that a Japanese strikes the toe of his foot against a Chinaman the heel. The suspects have confessed that they are Chinese.

I consider this a very clever bit of detective work, notwithstanding the fact that, judging from the manner in which my shoes wear, I fear that my own heels frequently come down with a priority which designates me as hopelessly Chinese, which I certainly am not.

The only regret I feel in the matter is that the discovery of the smuggling plot was not discovered by a woman, for the moral effect it would have upon the Chinese nation and upon the Chinese mind in general. I fear they have not a very high opinion over there of the ability of woman, and unfortunately their grouch is of court.

Frank S. Prince of Beverly, sister of Miss Bent, stated last night that she understood no further proceedings will be taken in the case.

"I feel certain that the matter will go no further," said Mrs. Prince. "My sister is not here at this time, and I cannot speak officially, but I am given to understand that the attachment will be dissolved and the episode closed."

Miss Bent attached real estate and bank accounts of Peters Monday, but whether she nor Peters would disclose what was the cause of the proceedings, Peters is in the lumber business. Miss Bent has her home in Beverly and Plymouth. For ten years she was private secretary to President William A. Barcroft of the Boston Elevated Railway company.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

Mexican Intervention the Topic—
Debate Won by Those Holding Negative Side of Argument

The high school debating society held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in room 50, before an audience of high school pupils and teachers that filled the room to its capacity. The subject chosen for debate was Mexican intervention, those who favored it being Mr. Francis Duffy, Mr. James Dow and Miss Elizabeth Flavin, and those who opposed it: Miss Marion Lane, Miss Alice Dineen and Mr. Harry Merrill. The judges chosen to decide on the merits of the arguments and their presentation were: His Honor, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Lawyer Frank Goldman and Joseph P. Quinn of the San office. President Edward Martin presided.

Mr. Francis Duffy was the first speaker. He favored American intervention chiefly on the ground that the people of Mexico are of such a peculiar temperament that no one there can keep them from perpetual revolution, and he quoted the example of Cuba as a guide to the administration. Miss Marion Lane in a very collected manner and with fine delivery made a strong argument against intervention. She declared that it would be unavailing in bringing about peace, that authority could not be maintained eventually, that trade with Latin America would be ruined and that the Monroe doctrine would be violated.

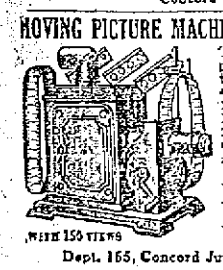

Mr. James Dow favored intervention because he said the people of Mexico are virtually slaves and were worse off under Madero than under Diaz. The United States, he said is bound to protect its own people and their property there as well as the lives and property of all foreign peoples. Intervention, therefore, is a positive duty. He was followed by Miss Dineen who, in the strongest argument of the debate, and with the best delivery, drew up a picture of the horrors of war, quoting from General Sherman. She dwelt on the long and bloody cam-

Progressives of California Met at San Francisco to Organize

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The progressives of California, who thus far have controlled the present situation under the nominal title of republicans—a course in which they were sustained by the state supreme court—gathered here today to organize their party under its own name.

Since the national elections of 1912 the state has been progressive in name, Governor Johnson, elected a republican, was a candidate with Theodore Roosevelt on the national progressive ticket and the electors pledged to Roosevelt and Johnson appeared on the ticket under the heading republican, which by the decision of the state supreme court held no place for electors pledged to Taft and Sherman, the nominees of the national republican convention at Chicago.

Today members of this dominant faction of what was once the republican party met to renounce formally its past allegiance and to proclaim itself the progressive party of California.

The situation has been further complicated by a call issued from Fresno to "progressive republicans" to meet here on Dec. 16. The call says those behind it were not in sympathy with the regular organization but would welcome the attendance of all republicans.

SOLDIERS COME BACK QUICKLY STOPS WORST BACKACHE

THROUGH LOWELL TODAY—WILL BE EMPLOYED IN LUMBER CAMPS

A number of immigrants, direct from Greece and Russia, arrived in this city this morning on the Fall River boat train which arrives in this city shortly before 2 o'clock. The foreigners were on their way to Berlin and Lincoln, N. H. where they are to be employed in lumber camps during the winter months.

The party was comprised of about 30 Greeks and 10 Russians and the greater number had in their possession small cards with the number of the camp to which they are to report printed thereon. Several of the Greeks have been in this country before and seemed much pleased to get back here to go to work. One of the men stated that he formerly lived in this country and was called to Greece about a year and a half ago to join the army. He was very anxious to get to his destination in order that he might earn enough money to buy new clothes so that he could appear on the streets with the American people. He stated that his position in the lumber camp had been secured for him by a fellow Greek.

LOST IN SNOW

Reports of Missing Persons in Denver—Have Searching Parties Out

DENVER, Dec. 6.—Reports came today from a number of points through the state of missing persons and of others who have been found unconscious in the snow since the abatement of the storm which prevailed for two days. Two men were reported lost on Clearing mountain near Colorado Springs and searching parties on snowshoes have been unable to find trace of them.

The streets of Denver have been cleared sufficiently of snow to permit the delivery of coal, milk and provisions.

KILLED RIDING MASTER

Vicious Animal Struck Man With Both Feet, Killing Him—Was Warned Not to Go Near the Mare

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Baby, a vicious, undersized bay mare, owned by Wilhelm Schenstrom, an electrical engineer of No. 26 West Ninety-ninth street, bears such a reputation for meanness that few of the stablemen in William R. Brown's Riding academy at No. 502 West One Hundred and Fifty-seventh street will go near her.

Ernest Surt, a riding master at the academy, returned to the stables late yesterday afternoon with a party of girls he had been instructing on the bridge path along Riverside Drive. The girls dismounted and went to their homes, and Surt joined Brown and Schenstrom who, with Okey Bailey, a negro hostler, the only man in the stable who attempted to control the mare, were near her stall.

But Surt warned Surt not to go near the mare.

Surt attempted to go into the stall and the mare let drive with both hind feet, striking the riding master in the left side and sending him against a wall ten feet away.

Surt did not lose consciousness and when the others got to him he said: "I think I'm done for. That mare has finished me."

But before an arrival of a doctor he was dead. One of his ribs is believed to have punctured the heart.

SOME REFUSE TO GO BACK

EMPLOYEES OF GREAT WESTERN RY. WILL NOT COMPLY WITH TERMS OF AGREEMENT

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Many of the 1200 employees of the Great Western railway who have been on strike since Wednesday refused today to comply with the terms of the agreement for the settlement of the dispute drawn up yesterday by the trades union leaders at a conference with representatives of the board of trade. They point out that the provisions are too drastic. Besides providing that neither James, the locomotive engineer who started the strike by refusing to haul "tainted goods" which had been handled by strikebreakers in Dublin, nor Reynolds, his comrade, who left work in sympathy with him, shall be re-employed, the terms insist that all the men must express their regret and subscribe from 25 cents to 50 cents each to the Fort Swinton hospital. The employers also refused to pay them for the time they were on strike.

EXTRA HAY CROP

Indian Summer Very Profitable to Farmers in Massachusetts

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 6.—The Indian summer of 1913 in central and western Massachusetts has been so long and of such a decided character that the farmers of Ware are harvesting an extra hay crop, while violets, arbutus and other spring flowers are in bloom in Westfield. The December having record is claimed by S. E. Lucker of Ware, who mowed several acres on Tuesday, dried it during the next three days and put it into the barn today. Winter flowers are not unusual but is one in this section of the state ever heard of December hay.

PUPILS HAVE DYNAMITE

EXPLOSION IN SCHOOL YARD IN WAKEFIELD—BOY PICKS CAP WITH A PIN AND LONES FINGERS

WAKEFIELD, Dec. 6.—Much excitement was created among 200 children playing in the yard of the Franklin school during recess yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a dynamite cap which Frank Hanwright, 11-year-old son of Frank R. Hanwright, of 22 Nahant street, was picking with a pin.

Two fingers of his left hand were blown off and a third finger was amputated at the Massachusetts general hospital. His condition was reported comfortable and it is hoped that his hand will be saved if blood poisoning does not set in.

Hanwright, with a chum, Philip Hall, aged 13, of 28 Nahant street, found about 16 caps just outside of Wakefield square on the banks of the brook which runs under the bridge.

As the children were playing about the schoolhouse before the afternoon session began, Hanwright and Hall gave a number of the caps to their young friends, who proceeded to enjoy themselves by wrapping them in paper, setting fire to the caps and then watching them explode.

No accidents occurred then, but at recess Hanwright started to pick the cap apart with a pin. No other children were near him at the time and the first thing known, was when the cap exploded.

His screams startled the teachers and children. Hanwright was on the ground with his left hand a mass of blood when teachers and pupils looked toward him after he screamed.

For a few minutes the entire place was in an uproar. The other boys who had some caps, fearing that they might get into trouble, immediately threw them into a dump that adjoins the school yard.

Edward L. Hall, principal of the school, as soon as young Hanwright was carried for, assembled all the children in the school and made inquiries about the caps. When he learned that they had all been thrown into the field, he instructed a number of the larger boys to go into the field and search for them, but their efforts resulted in the recovery of only four.

The police were notified and an investigation was started to learn how the caps came to be thrown on the banks of the brook nearly in the center of the town.

It was learned that the local highway department officials, who are blasting out a ledge, had opened a new box of caps last night, but they said last night that so far as they knew, none of their caps had been stolen.

Athletes and Athletics

The proposed athletic club in Chicago will be the real thing if the present plans are pushed to completion. The club will be called the "Sportsmen Club of America." The name may become confused with O'Rourke's "National Sportsmen's Club of America." However, the New York promoter should worry when the Chicago club opens up with a backing of more than half a million in cold cash. James A. Pugh, the president, is a yachting expert and will devote a great deal of time to this sport. A stadium with seating capacity of 15,000 is one of the features.

Packey McFarland, the pride of the stock yards, will enter the political arena if he is run for Chicago. The clever lightweight (?) has been endorsed by the city democratic committee for senator in his district and as it is a strong democratic ward, things look bright for Packey on election day. He should be a great help to his party on the floor of the legislature in case of a too heated debate.

The owners of the Brooklyn club are not yet ready to admit that Pletcher Anderson is a free agent, even if Secretary Farrell of the national commission does say so. They claim that a mistake must have been made by the commission. That matter of $333.33, which was awarded Anderson as well as also troubling them much.

Lough McGreen is being boosted as the next possible manager of the Red Sox. McGreen and John I. Taylor are both interested in several joint ventures and through these associations friends claim that McGreen will land the job. He was one of those at the recent meeting of the New England league in Boston.

Biff Dahlen, deposed chief of the Brooklyn Superiors, will probably act as lead scout for the borough club. Dahlen is a great judge of baseball players and is especially strong on slugging the youngsters. Butten, who was formerly chief scout for Brooklyn, will manage the Newark club next season.

The perfect football weather which we have had after Thanksgiving day for the past several years is holding on this year. In fact the afternoons now are more ideal for the pigskin than at any time during the season. The New England football season is liable to be lengthened, among the prep schools at least, with a few more autumns of the brand we are enjoying now.

Royal Order Prohibiting
Importation of Arms
Into Ireland

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The British cabinet, by a royal proclamation promulgated yesterday, prohibited the importation of arms and ammunition into Ireland, and for the first time grasped the seriousness of the revolution in Ulster, which it had hitherto ignored, although the followers of Sir Edward Carson for months had been advertising their military preparations in every possible way and daring interference with them.

Almost at the same time of the publication of the proclamation Premier Asquith made the latest step towards the conciliation of the Ulsterites that the government has taken by announcing his acceptance of the principles for a basis of agreement which Sir Edward Carson suggested in his last speech.

These principles are:
First.—That the settlement must not be humiliating or degrading to Ulster.
Second.—Ulster's treatment must not be different or exceptional from that meted out to the other parts of the United Kingdom.

Third.—Ulster must retain full protection of the imperial parliament.
Fourth.—The home rule bill must not be such as to lead to ultimate separation of Ulster from Great Britain.

Thus the government extends to the signers of the Ulster covenant the olive branch.

The proclamation prohibiting the importation of arms and ammunition into Ireland, which King George signed at a meeting of the privy council Thursday, and which was published in the Henderson, although he was always kicking up a row while here, did not like to leave Lowell as his baseball home.

Jimmy Gray expects to attend the meeting of the National league which will be held in New York next week. The Lowell manager is on the lookout for players and will probably bring back a few new signatures for his payroll.

Bay Wood might make a success of wrestling. His tactics last night showed conclusively that the Fall River fighter is some grappler on occasions. The rap that both he and Gallant got when they pitched out of the ring will act as a souvenir of their trip to Lowell.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team is trying to arrange a game with the basketball shooters of the C. Y. M. L. It is quite possible that these two teams may come to an agreement in the near future. If they do the fans will have an opportunity to witness a classy game of basketball. It will be a hard task, however, to find an amateur five which can lay it over the Y. M. C. A. boys.

The "come back" of Ted Pearson is causing a great deal of comment among Y. M. C. A. athletic circles. Ted has been away from athletics for several seasons but one would never guess it from the manner in which he hustles around the basketball surface.

Manager Stallings is headed north for the National league meeting on next Tuesday in New York. The Braves' leader is spending the winter on his plantation in Georgia where he is plotting plans for the success of the Boston Nationals next season.

Dick Hoblitzel, the star first baseman of the Reds, applied formally for the berth of Manager of the Cincinnati team yesterday. The husky first baseman is being looked upon with favor by the owners of the team who seem to think that he would make an excellent field general.

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, had his little chat with Joe Tinker yesterday and the result was agreeable to both of them. Clarke said after the conference that he would make every possible move to land Tinker for the Pirates.

Royal Gazette last night, was milder than rumors had anticipated it would be. Instead of reviving the Irish crimes act, which was so odious to the old-time home rulers against whom it was directed, which prohibits the carrying of arms and gives drastic power to search for arms, it invokes the customs consolidation act of 1876. The only reason given in the proclamation for taking the step is the statement: "Whereas, it is expedient that the importation into Ireland of arms and ammunition and other goods hereinafter mentioned should be prohibited, therefore, and the proclamation proceeds to specify all articles intended for or capable of being used for military purposes as being under the ban. It exempts, however, arms and explosives designed solely for sporting or mine uses.

Asquith For Peace
Premier Asquith's pronouncement was made, as many of his most important declarations on British politics have been, in the course of an after-dinner speech. The premier was the guest of honor of the Reform club at Manchester. It was in this same city and on a similar occasion that Sir Edward Carson's overtures were made so that it would appear that the negotiations for a settlement of the Irish controversy were taking the course of informal public debate.

Dealing with Sir Edward Carson's basis of settlement categorically, Premier Asquith said he was sure Sir Edward must agree that the statement that there could be no settlement worthy the name that would be humiliating or degrading to those from whom Sir Edward spoke should apply to all sections of the Irish people.

On the second point Mr. Asquith said he supposed Sir Edward referred to what formerly was called "home rule all round." Ireland's case, he added, was a case of urgency and must come first.

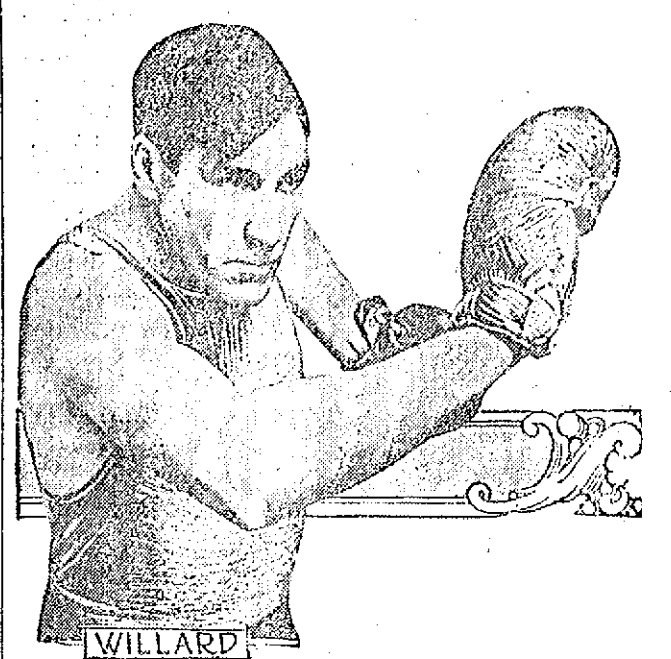

It could not be delayed until the government had gone through the complicated process of adapting the principle of home rule to all the different parts of the United Kingdom.
No Separation
The premier said he agreed there must be no ultimate separation of Ireland from Great Britain, but with the modification that there were peculiar conditions making the application of a cast iron or standardized system of home rule to different parts of the United Kingdom not practical. He added that the real and effective authority, supreme and unquestionable, must be retained by the imperial parliament. In beginning his speech, Premier Asquith said:

"I have looked in vain for a suggestion from the position which would lead to a possible settlement, and I fancy I have found it where I least expected to find it."

FEAR SEIZURE OF ARMS

BELFAST, Ireland, Dec. 6.—The greatest excitement has been created among the rank and file of the Ulster Unionists by the royal proclamation, prohibiting the importation of arms and ammunition into Ireland. During the night large quantities of rifles, bayonets and munitions of war were moved from Belfast to country towns in automobiles for fear the government authorities might put the Irish crimes act into force and seize the war stores already collected. The customs authorities made their first seizure under the terms of the proclamation today when they detained 59 cases of ammunition and eight cases of rifles and bayonets.

This team is expected to form the nucleus of a squad from all over the United States who will wear the shield in competition against the picked men of other nations. WOOD AND GALLANT DRAW FEDERAL LEAGUE

Fall River Boy Shaded Gallant
but Used Rough Tactics in Bout
Here Last Night—Other Bouts

Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea and Bay Wood of Fall River fought 12 rounds to a draw at last night's meeting of the Lowell A. C. on the floor of the Crescent rink. Some 1,200 sports watched the fight from the gallery and ringside.

There was plenty of mixing in every round although the mixing was very rough. Both men tumbled out of the ring looked in each other's arms in one session. Wood was thrown to the floor or canvas on six different occasions while Gallant hit the three times.

Wood went at Gallant in his usual manner rushing his opponent to the ropes from the top of the ring. These tactics were very disastrous to both of the fighters for the ring was equipped with two ropes and it was an easy matter to slide between them. Referee Jimmy Gardner was kept busy at both men in several of the rounds in an effort to keep them inside the ring.

It was a battle royal between two heavy hitting fighters and each man lived up to his reputation. Slam-bang with each hand was the order of the evening and the stamina of both Gallant and Wood was well proven by the manner in which they kept up the pace.

Wood used his left hand to Gallant's face to good advantage. He had the reach on the Chelsea fighter and made the most of it although Gallant used his left jab with precision in the first two rounds.

Hard fighting
Wood had a scar on his nose and Gallant promptly peeled the skin from it in the first session. Wood retaliated with a terrific left hook to the jaw which was the hardest blow struck in the first few rounds. There was some hard fighting in this round. Wood had a shade.

The second round was even with Wood still rushing while Gallant tried to reach him with either hand as he came in. Wood kept both hands to his face, however, and his opponent had hard work to make much impression. Wood rushed Gallant to the ropes four times in this round and took several left hooks in the body.

Wood shaded Gallant in the third with his straight lefts. Gallant made the blood run from the cut in Wood's face with a hard hook to the spot. The referee was hard on Gallant in the round of which Wood and the better landing on Gallant's kidneys with both hands almost at will.

Fell Out of Ring
The fourth round found both men on the floor of the hall with Wood on the bottom. The pair got into a clinch near Wood's corner and fell through the ropes with a thud. Wood was very stoogy from a crack in the head he received in this fact and forced the advantage of this fact and forced the fighting. Wood did little more than hold on for the remainder of the session. It was Gallant's round.

Gallant kept up his advantage in the fifth and snapped both hands to Wood's face. Wood's eye was puffed and nearly closed when he took his corner. It was Gallant's round.

The sixth session was very near an even thing, although Gallant had a slight advantage. Wood was beaten about the head with both hands and returned punishment to Gallant's body. Gallant kept up his advantage in the seventh and snapped both hands to Wood's face. Wood's eye was puffed and nearly closed when he took his corner. It was Gallant's round.

Wood continued his left hand tactics in the eighth and Gallant could not get inside of it. In spite of all Gallant could do Wood's left kept smacking him in the face. Both men landed a heavy blow to the kidneys and stomach, although Wood's were a harder and better placed. It was Wood's round.

In the ninth Gallant landed a hard right uppercut to Wood's body which failed to stop the latter. He still shot home left jabs and put over two hard rights. Just before the bell there was a furious mixup near Gallant's corner of which Wood had the better. Wood's round.

Gallant Sends in Uppercut
Gallant got in another healthy uppercut in the tenth to Wood's body. The blow was partially blocked this time. Wood made up for this by his two-handed fighting and forced the going until the bell. Wood had a shade.

The 11th was also Wood's round.

although the 12th was practically an even thing. Wood slipped out of the ring in the last round and many thought that he was knocked out, but he was up and in the ring again in a flash.

The decision was a draw. Although Wood shaded his opponent in the majority of the rounds he was very rough in his tactics and would not heed the referee when ordered to break. This probably cost him the decision.

Corrigan Gets Decision

The semi-final of eight rounds was a rather tame affair with Otto Mantel of Pawtucket and Billy Corrigan of Cambridge in the opposite corners. Corrigan led in the first three rounds, but Mantel landed the fight hard. Mantel landed the harder blows throughout the contest, although Corrigan's left hand played havoc with his features. The decision was given to Corrigan.

Billy Brooks showed well in his go with Young Turner. The latter was heavier and appeared very anxious to start something. He did when he hit Billy a smack in the stomach, but he couldn't finish it. Turner was knocked out in the opening session.

Young Dematt and Young Hutton boxed a six-round draw in the first bout. Both boys were on their feet at the end of the fight and the decision was well received.

List They Want for Their
Organization From 2
Major Leagues

The Federal league is a modest little association and its officials are quite bashful about asking for what they want. Yes they are—not! The New York Sun has the following to say on the list sent compiled by the officials of the outflow organization:

"At the Federal league meeting in Pittsburgh last Saturday Secretary Lloyd Rickart produced this list, but admitted that none of the players named therein had agreed to sign. He reported that the players were waiting to find out how the fraternity would be treated by the National commission in January. From a trustworthy source, the names of the players discussed follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati—Mordecai Brown, Bates, Sheppard, Holtzcliff and Benton.
Chicago—Zimmerman, Schulte, Leach, Bridwell, Richle and Lavender.
Pittsburgh—John Miller, Wilson, McCarthy, Dohan and Mitchell.
St. Louis—Kontecy, Salles, Oakes and Ellis.
New York—Herzog, Murray, Wilson, Marquard and Crandall.
Philadelphia—Becker, Devore, Camnitz, Chalmers and Byrne.
Boston—Hap Myers, Ferdue and Mann.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis—Stovall, Agnew, Baumgardner, G. Williams and Wellman.
Detroit—Stange, O. Bush, Morlarty and Dubuc.
Cleveland—E. Collins, L. Bush, Penick and Oldring.
New York—Ford, Sweeney and Cree.
Red Sox—Wood, Cady, Henriksen, Eagle and R. Collins.
Washington—Foster, Goddon, Engel and A. Williams.
Cleveland—Lajoie, Johnston, Mitchell and O'Neill.
White Sox—Chase, Sullivan, Rath and Russell.

DIAMOND NOTES

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will confer Sunday with Joe Tinker in Chicago, the deposed Cincinnati leader, with a view to having Tinker join the Pirates, according to a story published in Chicago recently.

Clarke already has arranged with the Cincinnati club for Tinker's release, it is said. Whether Tinker is to succeed Wagner at shortstop, indicating the latter's impossible retirement or transfer to Cincinnati could not be learned.

President Gilmore of the Federal league denied reports that Tinker is expected to confer here regarding a contract with a Federal club.

Upon his arrival here from Kansas City Thursday afternoon, Tinker admitted he had arranged to meet Clarke next Sunday, but said an informal discussion of his joining the Pittsburgh team was all he expected would take place.

According to Tinker, he would play shortstop and Wagner would go to first base. His addition giving the Pirates an infield of four 300 hitters. Tinker said he had not discussed or contemplated joining a Federal league club.

Fred Clarke will manage the Pittsburgh club next year. The annual Wagner retirement story was out of Pittsburgh the other day, despite the fact that it was stated positively, short time ago that the German would be back. When President Dreyfuss was asked concerning the matter, he said:

"Wagner will be in line for 1914. He has told me that he would play and we have practically agreed upon terms. He agreed to remain out of basketball so that he would be in form for next season, and I believe he will have a good season in 1914."

Trainer Ed Lofore, who was president of the Federal league, was talking, broke in with:

"Wagner going to retire? Not any! Why, just the other day, before he left for Marion Phillips' farm at Baginell, Ind., he bet me a bat and a $40 suit of clothes that he would lead the league in batting next season. And I believe he's going to do that very thing."

Lofore and Wagner are great friends. The trainer believes the German is the greatest ball player that ever graced a diamond, and he knows whereof he speaks.

Charles H. Ebbetts, Jr., son of the president of the Brooklyn National league club, was elected president of the Newark club of the International league. Ebbetts succeeds George J. Helomon, who was chosen vice president. Brooklyn owns the Newark organization.

The engagement of Wilbert Robinson as manager of the Supers will possibly necessitate the securing of another pitcher-coach for the Giants because McGraw has not the time during the training season to look out for his big staff of pitchers and give them the attention they require.

Charlie Farrell, who once held the job with the Red Sox and the Yankees, has been mentioned as Robbie's successor and "the duke" is not so old that he could not fill the place satisfactorily. In fact, Robbie and Farrell in their prime as active players, and there are very few better coaches at third base than Charlie Farrell as he conclusively proved when with the Yankees, and that is a job to be successful at that requires the best of judgment as to the speed of base runners, the throwing abilities of opposing fielders and the stakes of a game. The Giants have scarcely one good coach at the far corner outside of McGraw.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

A. A. A. HELD MEETING

NUMEROUS IMPORTANT BUSINESS MATTERS TRANSACTED AT RECENT SESSION

The American Automobile association at its annual meeting just held in Richmond, Va., declared unequivocally that federal participation in highway improvement should be expected so as to obligate the several states to expend upon their market roads directly serving the farm population a sum proportionate to the national expenditure on the most used commercial roads connecting the several states. It is the contention of the automobilists that the betterment of main and lateral roads shall be carried forward jointly in order to accommodate adequately increasing traffic needs.

John A. Wilson, of the Pennsylvania Motor federation, was elected to the presidency, succeeding Laurens Rhoads of New York, who declined a second term. Mr. Wilson's long experience in automobile organization affairs guarantees an active administration of the national body. Dr. H. M. Rowe, of the Automobile club of Maryland, of which state association he has been the head for the past five years, was advanced to the first vice presidency; R. W. Smith of Colorado was named as second vice president; F. L. Baker of California, third vice president; H. J. Clark of Minnesota, 4th vice president; and Preston Belvin of Virginia, fifth vice president. John N. Brooks of Connecticut continues as secretary. H. A. Bannell of New Jersey as treasurer, and A. C. Batchelder as chairman of the executive board.

In the appointment of board chairmen, President Wilson named the following: Good roads, George C. Diehl, New York; legislative, C. C. Jones, Ohio; touring, Howard Longstrech, Pennsylvania; contests, William Schmitt, New York. The executive board contains members from practically every state.

Emphatic endorsement was given to the Alamo motor, which provides that after the automobile owner has registered his car in his own state he shall be privileged to go anywhere in the United States without additional registration. For many years the A. A. A. has sought federal registration of automobiles, but the bill put forward by Representative Adamson, of Georgia, exactly meets the needs of the situation, and it will enlist the unanimous support of all users of self-propelled vehicles.

Complimenting Secretary of the Interior Lane for his commendable work of making the national parks more available to road travelers, the association also placed itself on record as favoring increased federal appropriations for the national recreation regions, and pledged co-operation with the American Civic association in its movement for a bureau of national parks.

The meeting adopted comprehensive "rules of the Road and Regulations of Road Traffic," which will be generally adopted throughout the entire country. These rules also refer to pedestrians in their use of the roads, and this feature will command universal interest, for it is generally recognized that the increased use of the highways makes absolutely necessary regulations governing pedestrians as well as vehicles.

In reference to the registration of automobiles, the association hereafter will be opposed to a registration tax unless same shall be in lieu of all other taxes, and the money thus raised expended in connection with roads maintenance. The so-called New Jersey test case, involving both a substantial registration tax and a personal property tax, has been taken to the U. S. supreme court and will be pressed with all due speed to its ultimate determination. This case originated during the presidency of the A. A. A. by Robert P. Hooper, who is serving his seventh term as the chief executive of the Pennsylvania body.

Upon the invitation of President L. B. Squire of the Massachusetts State association the next annual meeting will be held in Boston. Since the 1912 gathering was in the west, the 1913 meeting in the south, and the next gathering in the east, in 1915 the association will again visit the western section of the country.

HINT TO MOTOR CAR SALESMEN

"First Impressions go a long way toward determining the sale of an automobile, particularly if the prospective buyer is making his first investment," said John N. Wilkes, president of a well known automobile manufacturer of Toledo, O. "This is very often the case with a man who has not definitely decided upon any special type of car and who sees for the first time a feature in design or construction that is pleasing to him. It will then change from a lukewarm prospect to an eager listener and if the salesman is fortunate enough to be present at this, the psychological moment, he will clinch the sale nine times out of ten."

LOCAL AUTO MEN

News of Interest to the Motorists From the Local Dealers

Nearly all of the local dealers have received and are now displaying their new 1914 auto models, and the cars of this year claim admiration of the motorists. There are many exchanges of older models in part payment for new ones at some of the salesrooms.

It is quite evident that the cars of today which have been constructed up to such a point of perfection will be standards for a long time to come. Improvements and additions will be effected each year, to be sure, but the owners of 1914 cars will not in the year 1915 or 1916, feel that their motors are out of date.

BUICK ENTERS

The entire Buick line of 1914 is being shown at the salesrooms of the Lowell Buick Co., in Appleton street. The feature is the big six-cylinder machine, one of the most attractive of the automobile products of this country, both because of its quality and because of the price. The same is in no small measure true of all the Buick machines.

Mr. Feindel's Sales

Mr. Feindel, whose salesroom for the Overland and Chevrolet cars is in Davis square, reports the following recent sales: Five passenger Overlands, electrically equipped, to J. G. Bailey of Woburn, Dr. R. Kinschner of Lowell, Hugh McDonald of Littleton, Mrs. Blanche Goddard of Lowell, Mrs. Josephine McDermott of Lowell; five passenger Overlands to Dr. E. D. Harris of Chelmsford, C. R. Peavey of Lowell, A. A. Welcome of Lowell; Mr. Feindel also sold a Chevrolet roadster, electrically equipped, to Albert W. Thompson and one of the same description to Dr. F. F. Pillsbury. He sold a Chevrolet touring car, electrically equipped, to J. H. Preston.

Boston Auto Supply Co.

Just at this time Mr. McGarry of the Boston Auto Supply in Bridge street is experiencing a very busy season. Mr. McGarry has greatly increased his stock during the past week, and has received a large consignment of tire chains of which he reports rapid sales. The vulcanizing and general repairing department is also being widely patronized, and the quality of the work of this shop is in every case appreciated. The motorists will find everything in the line of auto equipment at the Boston Auto Supply Co.

E. E. Smith Co.

The Goodrich tires are being featured at the E. E. Smith Co., at its establishment in Market street, and with no little success. This store has also a wide variety of other accessories which will please the motoring people of this city.

Hudson Light Six Here

Mr. George Russell Dana, Jr., brought the new Hudson "Six 40," or "light six," as it is sometimes called, to this city today. This news will please a great many who have become interested in this new Hudson product and who have been eagerly awaiting the arrival of the car at Mr. Dana's garage in East Merrimack street.

The Hudson Light Six is an automobile embodying the last word in auto construction. It has all of the qualities of the six cylinder car, and what is more important, of the Hudson engine, namely, smoothness, power and ease of operation and control. The price, as an attractive feature, for it places the car within the easy reach of many, who had not this machine been placed on the market, would have had to be content with a four cylinder car.

Mr. Dana has aroused great interest in the new Hudson, and is confident of a successful season. Many people inspected the machine today, and the comment in every case was highly favorable.

THE ECONOMICAL BUICK

A recent New York dispatch says: "The second day of the New York reliability run, a jaunt of 175 miles up into Connecticut and back Thursday, was attended by a remarkable freedom from penalties considering the nature of the day's route. Starting in the morning from the Manhattan Automobile club, the tourists had a trip full of pleasant sailing up to New Haven. After luncheon at the Hotel Taft, they set out to the westward over a narrow dirt highway to Danbury and had still going to negotiate until they got back to Norwalk and found there the Boston Post road and smooth going the rest of the way into New York."

Strict orders against speeding had been issued by the referee, A. B. Gardner, who announced that any contestant receiving a summons for exceeding the speed limit in any town passed through would be immediately and summarily disqualified. To keep within the speed limit and still to make the night control at the Mitchell-Edmundston garage in West 62d street on time was a considerable test of driving skill, but not one of the 11 contestants incurred any further penalties and the score of Wednesday's run with eight of the 11 competitors having clean scores, stood at the conclusion of yesterday's run. There was again only one case of tire trouble, Buick No. 1 getting a puncture. The gasoline consumption recorded by the contestants for the 175 miles was as follows:

Buick No. 1, 11 3-4 gallons; Buick No. 2, 9 1-2 gallons; Buick No. 3, 10 1-2 gallons; Buick No. 4, 10 gallons; Chandler No. 5, 10 1-2 gallons; Oakland No. 6, 20 gallons; Oldsmobile No. 7, 18 gallons; DeDion Bouton, No. 8, 22 gallons; National No. 9, 16 gallons; Hudson No. 10, 19 1-2 gallons; Buick No. 11, 17 gallons.

RUN ON BANK

Man With Grudge Told Foreigners Institution Was in Difficulties

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A man who had a grudge against Laidlaw W. Schwab, who has a private bank and a steamship ticket office at 291 Bedford avenue, Williamstown, went among the foreigners of the district yesterday afternoon and whispered it about that the institution was in financial difficulties and that any one who had money on deposit there would be wise to draw it out right away.

As a result of this a run started on the bank at 8 o'clock last night—it keeps open until 9 usually—which in a hour assumed such proportions that the police reserves were called out to control the clamorous mob of men, women and children.

Schwab happened to be in his bank when the first of the depositors came running through the entrance doors waving a greasy book and shouting out that he wanted his money and wanted it quick. The first man was the last one to come in the door alone. After him the depositors arrived so fast that they jammed the place and shouted threats and demands in a dozen tongues.

The banker at first didn't understand what had caused the trouble and didn't know why all his hitherto trusting clients had suddenly turned on him. One of the depositors finally told him the cause of the run.

Schwab and his perspiring cashiers and tellers paid out more than $1,000, mostly in small sums ranging from $5 to $100, with very few of the latter. The usual resources of banks in such situations were tried. Piles of cash were placed on the desks in plain view.

Over 1000 people gathered and to prevent a riot the police had to be called to quell the excitement.

CARDINAL OREGLIA DEAD

DEAN OF SACRED COLLEGE IN ROME DIED OF PNEUMONIA—WAS 55 YEARS OF AGE

ROME, Dec. 5.—Cardinal Luigi Oreglia, dean of the sacred college, died here yesterday of pneumonia. He was 55 years of age and was the last of the cardinals created by Pope Pius IX. Although the aged cardinal's death had been expected, Pope Pius X sustained a shock when Monsignor Giovanni Brocan informed him of the occurrence. The pontiff had always felt toward Cardinal Oreglia a sentiment of great respect and appreciation of the energy with which he had conducted the affairs of the Vatican during the interregnum between the death of Pope Leo XIII and his own election when Cardinal Oreglia was chamberlain of the congregation.

TWO HELD FOR ROBBERY

YOUNG MEN ARRESTED AT WOBURN ON CHARGE OF HOLDING UP WOMAN AND TAKING PURSE

WOBURN, Dec. 6.—After being identified by Mrs. George A. Kimball as the men who had robbed her last night, Homer Burke, 19 years of age, and Edward Tierney, 21, both of Manchester, N. H., were held today in jail on $1,000 each for a continued hearing in the district court on Dec. 10. Mrs. Kimball alleged that the men held her up and stole her purse containing a small sum of money. Police trailed the men and arrested them in Winchester. A burglar's tool and several stolen keys are alleged to have been found on Tierney.

PRES. WILSON BETTER WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Wilson's cold was much better today. He dictated some letters at the executive offices and signed some commissions but saw no callers. Engagements were being made for Monday as usual.

Why the Buick Car is Right

Advertising used to be nothing but telling the people that certain goods were the cheapest. Later, somebody discovered that he had to claim his goods were the best. Again later, somebody else made the discovery that just saying so wasn't enough. People wanted to know the reason why.

Americans have been educated to the fact that cheap goods don't pay. They don't want cheap anything. They realize that good goods save time, money and disposition. And besides, there is always that added pleasure of buying something that's right.

The knowledge that they have something that's right is one reason why a Buick owner is always a Buick booster.

BUICK CARS ARE BUICK BUILT. THAT'S WHY THEY'RE RIGHT.

CAMPAIGN OF VENGEANCE 30 HOURS OF RAIN

Militants Angry Over the Arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst Set Fire to Valuable Building

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The campaign of vengeance for the arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst was started in earnest by the militant suffragettes last night. They had marked for destruction exhibition buildings and the grandstands on the race tracks in Lancashire where Premier Asquith is spending the week-end in delivering a series of political speeches.

Two of the items on the militant suffragette program were successfully carried out, for "arson squads" set fire to and burned down exhibition buildings at Liverpool and Manchester. Their third attempt, however, was unsuccessful, the destroyers being frightened away by the approach of a policeman when they were preparing their combustibles to set fire to the grandstand on Alnwick race course.

SET FIRE IN LIVERPOOL. LIVERPOOL, Eng., Dec. 6.—Militant suffragettes attempted today to destroy the exhibition buildings which have only been just closed for the winter months. The scenic railroad, a big canvas covered structure, was discovered in flames early this morning and the firemen had the utmost difficulty in preventing the spread of the fire to other buildings. As it was considered a valuable building, the fire was put out. A letter addressed to Premier Asquith and a quantity of suffrage literature.

$50,000 HALL DESTROYED. MANCHESTER, Eng., Dec. 6.—The exhibition hall in the southeastern suburban district of Russelme, which cost $50,000, was burned to the ground today by an "arson squad" of militant suffragettes.

Downpours Continue to Fall in Kansas—Heavy Property Damage

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6.—Rains continued falling today in many parts of Kansas, where a week of wet weather has swollen the streams and caused considerable damage to farm property. At Fort Scott, Kas., a 30 hour downpour has caused a four foot rise in the Neosho river. The bottoms were flooded at several points and farmers were moving livestock to higher ground.

While attempting to ford Timber creek, near Floral, Kas., in a wagon last night Archie Lowry, his wife and two children were swept down stream and one of the children was drowned.

Several central Missouri points reported flooded streams and roads so deep in mud that farmers cannot get to market.

HUNT OF FAMOUS CHEMIST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—It was announced at the American philosophical society last night that a hunt which has reposed in the society's collection since 1815 has been identified within the past few days as that of Antoine Laurent Lavoisier, a celebrated French chemist. The work was identified by Paul Vitz, conservator of the art collection in the Louvre, who declares it is a fine example of the work of Houdon, the sculptor.

The society received the bust from William Short, who acted as secretary to Thomas Jefferson when the latter was ambassador to France.

Elect a Man
Who Knows
His Work

A MAN OF CHARLES J. MORSE'S TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE is needed at city hall next year. He will prove no EXPENSIVE ORNAMENT in office. Rather will be prove a tireless worker and persistent plugger for the advancement of the public welfare.

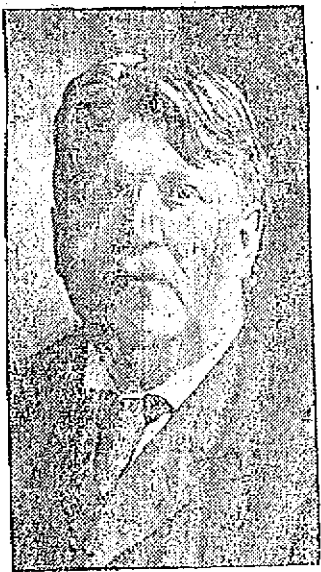

HE WILL KNOW HOW to conduct the affairs of certain departments without depending upon others for advice or suggestions. He will know how to get about doing his work without unnecessary delay and at a minimum of cost. In a word, he will know how to plan, lay out, and perfect the work of his department with EFFICIENCY AND DESPATCH. Is he not, Mr. Voter, the kind of man you should EMPLOY?

HOW MANY OF YOU CITIZENS remember the great piece of constructive sewer work put through a few years ago by Mr. Morse in the DROPPING OF THE SEWER IN MERRIMACK SQUARE. A work of stupendous difficulties and danger. The slightest miscalculation would have involved the city in thousands of dollars damage suits. This work was put through without one cent of liability incurred—permitted the erection of large buildings in the center of the city with increased revenue from taxation, and at a cost of $16,500, WITH A LARGE OUTSIDE CONTRACTING FIRM SAYING IT COULD NOT BE DONE LESS THAN $32,000.

YOU KNOW, MR. VOTER, that after all, good government simply means capacity and ability on the part of those chosen to public office to deal in an intelligent manner with questions of public affairs. Mr. Morse has the ABILITY to take charge of several of your most important departments, is he not, therefore, entitled to your vote?

CARMICHAEL

Honest,
Capable,
Experienced

Faithful
Consistent
Sincere

The citizens of Lowell who are sincerely desirous of the city's welfare are considering favorably the candidacy of COL. JAMES H. CARMICHAEL for member of the BOARD OF ALDERMEN

COL. CARMICHAEL is no unknown man—no untitled quantity. Known to almost every man and woman in the city, he is respected for those qualities which begot confidence and command the honest admiration of the people.

For years he served the city in the Board of Aldermen under the former charter without pay. His record was one of FIDELITY, HONESTY, BREADTH AND CHARACTER. No petty scheming in small politics occupied his time or thought; he was the representative of ALL THE PEOPLE ALL THE TIME.

COL. CARMICHAEL is a fitting man to serve the city under the present charter which places a responsibility that requires for its proper discharge JUDGMENT, CONSIDERATION, POISE AND CHARACTER.

It is fitting that he should be selected to serve the city and give to it his time for the compensation provided by the charter since he served so well for so long a time with no compensation whatsoever but the satisfaction of duty done.

BIG WATER MAIN

Burst in Brookline

—PROPERTY DAMAGE
AGGREGATING THOU-
SANDS OF DOLLARS

ANDREW E. BARRETT

(FROM THE BOSTON GLOBE)
BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Many workmen marched this morning to Dean and Clinton roads in Brookline and began to tear up the ground to uncover the giant water main of the Metropolitan system, which burst last night, five minutes before midnight, and flooded the whole district with a roaring current, carrying a heavy load of clay.
It was only when daylight came that it was possible to see what the force of the water had been. Dean road for nearly a mile is entirely impassable on account of the dangerous holes the water dug, and the deep, thick mud. The road has been fenced off by the police.
The houses which get the worst of it are actually in a dangerous condition, their foundations having been attacked so that they are partly undermined. At the place where the break occurred, the roadway has been seized out to a depth of three feet, in a gully 15 feet across.
The 18-inch main gave way at 11.55 p. m., and it was only a few minutes afterward that Patrolman Johnston heard of the trouble and notified the water company, assisted by members of the Brookline water department, put the two gates which controlled the flow shut off. It is estimated that 2,000,000 gallons of water rushed out in those two hours.
At the Chestnut Hill pumping station it was explained that the main, one of those supplying Boston, was an old one, laid by the Boston water department many years ago. At the point of the break it is buried 12 feet under ground, which accounts for the fact that there was no geyser, as in the case of a shallower break.
This break calls to mind a condition which existed in our city until a short time ago. How many citizens of Lowell realize that until Com. Barrett installed the main across the river at the Aiken street bridge the safety of the city depended on a single line crossing the river at Alder street and which was installed over 42 years ago. Imagine our condition if any break in this line came during the spring when the river is running full or during the winter months when it would be a long and expensive job to repair the break. During the time it would take to repair the damage the city would be forced to depend on the Cook wells for water, and as they have never produced over 25% of our supply it can readily be seen what our condition would be, and in case of a large fire at that time our city would be helpless. In view of these facts it certainly redounds to Mr. Barrett's credit that he had the courage and foresight to install this second line against all opposition and thereby remedy a dangerous condition which had been allowed to exist for too long a time. If a break in that main had occurred at any time during Barrett's administration what a cry would have gone up all over our city and severe condemnation would have come to the head of that department. Now, then, why not be fair and commend a public official for the good work that he does. Some of Mr. Barrett's critics have cried extravagance, but they have not shown such a condition. Is it extravagance to take the necessary steps to protect the lives and property of the community? We answer it is not, and we believe the citizens of Lowell will say so next Tuesday.
